Request Seeks Referendum on City Bonding

Council Decides It's Okay To Have Women Tending Bar

— with full-time aldermen — has a somewhat similar ordinance on referendums. In Milwaukee the board of education, for example, cannot do any building unless projects are approved by referendum vote.

Submits Program

The Milwaukee School Board usually submits a five-year construction program which is acted on by referendum vote.

"I hope the city council will see fit to enact such an ordinance very soon," Heiss declared.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), finance committee chairman, says his group wants to conduct a survey of other cities to see what spending limitations they have before putting projects to referendum.

The council also:

— Referred back to committee a policy which would have the engineering division select areas where new sidewalks have to be constructed, rather than leaving it up to aldermen.

Recommendations Approved

— Approved several recommendations of the plan commission with regard to revisions in the proposed new citywide zoning code.

— Sent back to the commission a request of the Appleton Board of Realtors to zone the entire area on Wisconsin Avenue from Meade to Mason streets for commercial purposes. The commission had recommended denial.

— Withheld action on changing the E. Newberry Street speed limit from 35 to 25 m.p.h., requested by Ald. Glen Thompson (13th) and opposed by Ald. Mark Catlin (7th), and sent the matter back to the committee.

— Requested the Fox Valley Council of Governments to conduct a survey of teachers to determine group characteristics with relation to home ownership, rentals and travel habits. Results would aid in determining to me the city council has more important things to consider, and business to conduct, and should get at it," Errington said.

Charges were also leveled some tavern owners wanted to hire female bartenders so they could pay lower salaries and cut operating expense.

This was refuted by Breitrick in his appearance before the council. He said about 90 to 95 per cent of the bartenders in Appleton were part-time, and full-time workers were scarce.

Favor Repeal

Breitrick said at a meeting of the association earlier in the week 40 members in attendance were unanimous in favoring repeal of Appleton's ban.

He explained that with a woman behind the bar male customers would "watch their language", and if someone imbibed too much and came in for another drink, would leave immediately if ordered by a woman.

In reply to a question, Breitrick admitted only about half the 40 members were in the city — the rest from out in the county.

And Ald. William Wachten-donk (3rd) pressed Huisman on whether he (Huisman) had instigated the move to remove the ban on his own and solicited a letter from the Tavernkeepers Association supporting his position.

Huisman replied, "No, the letter was not solicited."

Records at the city clerk's office show 276 bartender licenses have been issued in 1967 by the council. Last year the total was 299.

Additional Approved

— Approved plans for the Madison Junior High addition, conditioned on revisions being made so all municipal and state codes are complied with.

— Created a special committee, headed by Mayor George Buckley, to study the possibility of establishing a centralized purchasing division for all governmental units, including the public school system.

— Received a report from Mayor Buckley — in response to an aldermen inquiry — that preliminary work is being done to lay the groundwork for making a final decision on whether Appleton should undertake a public housing project for the elderly.

Mosquito Hill Proposal Committee Okays $200 Appraisal Fees

An additional $200 for appraisal fees for land at Mosquito Hill was approved by the Outagamie County Board's Parks and Recreation Committee Thursday morning to comply with a request from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for more detailed appraisal information.

The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation administers Land and Water Conservation (LAWCON) funds which the parks committee is seeking for purchase of land at Mosquito Hill for a county park.

The committee indicated they may bring a resolution before the board Tuesday to purchase some of the land if they are successful in picking up options on a majority of the land before that time.

Objective Cited

Supv. R. Clayton VanDyke, Kaukauna, objected to the authorization of the additional $200 in appraisal fees at this time. "Why not wait until after Tuesday?" he asked. He said if the county board does not go along with the committee the money will be wasted.

Appleton Supv. Allen Bubolz defended the appropriation on the basis the new appraisals could speed up approval of LAWCON funds.

A move by Van Dyke to have the matter laid over until after the board meeting was ruled out of order by Committee Chairman Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan. The appropriation was then approved 3-2 with Supv. Carl Runte, Kaukauna, joining Van Dyke in opposition.

Runte said he voted no because he had not had the opportunity to personally inspect the land close enough to know understand his colleague's action because 90 per cent of the area was in his (Groh's) ward.

"Speaking as alderman of the ward, I think it is good to plan now for the future, and I think the setback provision is very timely," Groh declared.

Provisions for Widening

Groh said while widening of Lawrence Street may be years off, it was nice to make provisions for the change now.

He cited a previous incident in his ward in which it was necessary for the city to go into a crash widening program.

"Some of our horse-and-buggy roads of today will be undergoing change," Groh said, "So we might as well plan so it is done orderly."

In other action, the council authorized major equipment purchases:

—Two wing plows for $5,000 from Kelbe Brothers Equipment Co., Butler.

—A 125-ton capacity, three-compartment ice control bin with bucket elevator from American State Equipment Co., $9,675.

The department of public works was authorized to advertise for bids for a front end loader, utility tractor with plow attachment, and a heated trailer.

Other highs were Beloit and Burlington 44, Superior 36, Park Falls 37, Wausau 38, Green Bay 39, and Eau Claire 40, Madison 41, recommendation also indicated Lone Rock, La Crosse and Racine 42, and Milwaukee 43.

Overnight lows included Milwaukee and Beloit 43, Racine 40, Madison, Lone Rock and Burlington 38, Appleton 36, Park Falls, Wausau, Eau Claire and Superior 35.

Chairman Named for 8th District Romney For President Group

Dr. Reed Andrew, Green Bay, was appointed 8th District chairman of the Romney for President Committee, according to Wilbur Renk, state chairman of the Wisconsin Romney for President Committee.

Assisting the eye surgeon will be Mrs. Jack Severson, Manitowoc, who was appointed district vice chairman.

The Outagamie County chairman is David Gruenwaldt, 104 E. Second St., Kaukauna.

Renk said that Michigan Gov. George Romney will visit Green Bay, Appleton and Manitowoc after the first of the year.

Two File Bankruptcy Petitions With Court

Two Appleton men have filed bankruptcy petitions in U. S. District Court.

Donald L. Allard, 802½ W. Elsie St., a truck driver, petitioned for liabilities of $18,464 and assets of $7,750, with $600 exempt.

Kenneth J. Lyons, 1524 S. Driscoll St., a foundry employe, showed liabilities of $6,542 and assets of $2,700, with $1,200 exempt.

Froehlich Honored by Colleagues

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Three state legislators have joined in hailing Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, for his selection as one of Wisconsin's five outstanding young men of 1967.

Froehlich, a 35 year old third term member of the Assembly, was selected for the honor last week by the Wisconsin Jaycees. He is completing his first term as Speaker of the lower house.

Authors of the resolution saluting Froehlich are Senate majority leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, and Assemblymen James Devitt, R-Greenfield, and John Shabaz, R-New Berlin.

The tribute hails Froehlich for the "integrity and the dignity he has brought to the Wisconsin State legislature."

Froehlich has been recognized for outstanding contribution to state government, and has been the author of progressive legislation, the authors state. He has pushed reform in state government, they added. And he has been selected for inclusion in listings of business and government leaders from throughout the country, they noted.

reactor, a water supply from the spent fuel pit is heated, by the splitting atoms, in the vacuum of the containments to an extreme temperature. This water (fuel), which does not boil because of the pressure, in turn, heats water taken from the lake and changes this into steam to turn the turbines.

Reed indicated that other lake water is used to condense the steam before it is returned to the lake.

Newsman were given interesting bits of information as they moved around the site:

14 Feet Thick

—The first containment has 7,300 yards of concrete in it, including a 14-foot thick base and 3-foot thick walls. The company plans to begin construction on the second one next spring.

—By January 1969, the company plans to have a formal training program in operation of the nuclear plant for about 35 of its key personnel. This will be done in the information building located near the plant.

—The construction firm has not had serious trouble getting workers, except carpenters, and a schedule problem is not seen. The annual construction payroll is about $4 million.

—Westinghouse Electric Corp., Atomic Power Division, Pittsburgh, Penn., is the main contractor and is constructing the nuclear reactors, which will be shipped to the site and installed as a unit.

At the end of the tour newsmen and plant officials returned to the temporary offices of Wisconsin Michigan where an informal question and answer period was held.

Officials included Tony Carpfinger, project engineer, Wisconsin Michigan; John Dehlberg, assistant vice president, Wisconsin Electric; J. K. Babbitt, vice president and general manager, Wisconsin Michigan; and Merlin Abler, director of marketing, Wisconsin Michigan.

'Dump Johnson' Move Having Its Troubles

Minnesota Senator Considered Not Aggressive Enough by Some Easterners

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
CHICAGO — When Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota arrived at Chicago's O'Hare airport to address the Conference of Concerned Democrats last Saturday he was greeted not with garlands but with grumbling.

The fact that McCarthy had announced as a presidential candidate was the sole reason for national interest in this meeting of dump-Johnson Democrats. But the leaders of the conference bombarded him with complaints on the ride from the airport to downtown Chicago.

They griped that the text of his speech to be given that night was too tame, more college lecture than political oration. They were unhappy that McCarthy was traveling around with only one aide, senatorial assistant Jerry Eller, and urged him to quickly build a professional campaign staff.

To top it off, they reported the Massachusetts contingent attending was outraged over reports that McCarthy would not enter their state's presidential primary, and were threatening to put themselves and their wallets on the next plane back to Boston.

Solves One Problem
McCarthy quickly solved one problem by announcing he would enter the Massachusetts primary after all, but the others were not so easy. A rewritten version of his speech was no stronger than the original and disappointed an overflow crowd at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, who wanted raw meat.

Nor did McCarthy make progress in finding a campaign manager. Anti-LBJ leaders here recommended Californian Frederick G. Dutton, a Kennedy administration official and now an informal advisor to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, but Dutton wants no part of it. There was wild talk of professional political consultant Joe Napolitano, but he predictably condemned the McCarthy candidacy on NBC's "Today Show" on Dec. 4.

Although McCarthy was effective in his closed-door confrontations with state contingents (particularly the suspicious New York group), his witty, underplayed style hardly satisfied the fervent anti-Vietnam Democrats. That they endorsed him for president was merely because McCarthy as candidate was better than no candidate at all.

The feeling was mutual. Last Saturday's events caused the first strain between McCarthy and Allard K. Lowenstein, the dynamic young New Yorker who heads the dump-Johnson movement. While McCarthy waited impatiently in the wings, Lowenstein beguiled the Saturday night rally for 15 minutes with shouting, emotional oratory. After that, McCarthy's low-keyed speech was an anti-climax which pleased no one.

Actually, Lowenstein, operating on the erroneous information that McCarthy had not yet arrived at the rally, had no intention of upstaging the senator. But that only confirmed to McCarthy and Eller the amateurish aspects of the Conference of Concerned Democrats. They left Chicago determined that this would be the last meeting not under their direct control.

Wisconsin Optimistic?
Indeed, it is difficult to see how Lowenstein's organization can be much help to McCarthy's trial buildings, $142,000; one in the months ahead. While its mercantile building, $135,000; a steering committee was meeting garage, $2,500; a non-residence the press Saturday morning, the building, $3,800; and two re-hard facts were poured out at a modeling permits for $12,800.

closed-door session of their followers.

Apart from California and Wisconsin, there was little optimism in the state-by-state reports.

Illinois confessed it could not wean party workers away from the regular organization. Pennsylvania and Idaho made clear they were more interested in the re-election of dovish Senators Joseph Clark and Frank Church. Arizona reported no chance of breaking into the tightly-controlled delegate selection process.

Nebraska and Oregon, primary states, were gloomy. Although Nassau County reported pro-McCarthy sentiment, other New York spokesmen — from Brooklyn and Rochester — were glum. With Gov. Richard Hughes promoting President Johnson, New Jersey offered little hope. Minnesota said its party was loyal to Vice President Humphrey.

Indeed, though the meeting here was intended to reveal deep anti-LBJ sentiment inside the party, only a corporal's guard of party leaders showed up — most in the has-been and never-was category. Only the California Democratic Council (CDC) leaders showed experience in the mechanics of holding a political meeting, and they quickly took over here.

The blunt truth is that, apart from money, the sole tangible asset of the conference is Gene McCarthy. Dump-Johnson Democrats need him infinitely more than he needs them.

McCarthy's ability to have any impact at all on the events of 1968 will depend on his own vote-getting ability in the primaries rather than on any help from the Democrats who assembled in Chicago last weekend.

State Enrollment Plans Are Stymied

Long-Range Projections Blocked By Green Bay, Kenosha Questions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Questions over the future of the new University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and Parkside campuses have blocked long-range enrollment projections of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, a subunit of the governing board, has been told.

Before the staff can estimate enrollments between 1970 and 1983 it must have full information on the academic plans of the new schools, housing and graduate school programs, and the entrance standards to be required of potential students.

The current lack of information has blocked enrollment planning for the entire Wisconsin higher educational system.

Jan. 16 Report
Backbone of the information from the fast-developing new campuses will come on Jan. 16, when Chancellors Edward W. Weidner of Green Bay and Irvin G. Wylie of Parkside report to the plans and policies subcommittee on academic programs they wish to pursue at their new schools.

The estimates of fee schedules for the new schools will be developed throughout the spring in the compilation of budget studies for the new biennium for state higher educational institutions.

The question of the future of graduate programs at the two campuses will be before the full CCHE in March. They have pending a recommendation from the staff that the schools not plan on starting graduate programs in their early years, because of the cost and efforts involved.

Graduate Program
The decision as to whether graduate programs are to be offered — and if so, when they are to be started — has to be settled by the Coordinating Committee.

Dormitory policies, involving the extent to which students are to be housed in public accommodations, also has to be decided, but probably will not be settled as a result of the Jan. 16 meeting.

All the questions have a direct effect on the potential growth of the two new schools, and therefore, on the future growth of all elements of higher education in Wisconsin.

Decisions Needed
"Hard decisions have to be made very soon. We realize that we have to pressure for that type of information," Angus Rothwell, CCHE executive director, told the student affairs subcommittee of the CCHE.

He backed an earlier position taken by associate Joseph Lins, charged with enrollment projections for the Coordinating Committee, that accurate figures beyond 1970 cannot be derived until the questions are answered.

The two schools are scheduled to open in the fall of 1969 on the junior-senior level, and add freshmen and sophomores soon after.

Martin on Decoration Committee

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Three lawmakers have been named to the special state board established in response to Mrs. Dorothy Knowles' redecoration plans for the reception room of her husband's — Gov. Warren P. Knowles' — office in the state capitol.

Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, has named Assemblymen David Martin, R-Neenah, John Shabaz, R-New Berlin, and Mrs. Verna Manders, D-Milwaukee, as Assembly members of the new board.

Still to be appointed are three representatives of the state Senate for the special 15 member commission.

The state capitol and executive residence board was created after Mrs. Knowles proposed the redecoration of the ornate conference room in the capitol. Backed by Secretary of Administration Wayne McGown, planning progressed on painting the historic room an off-white. The room is a copy of the conference room of the Doges Palace in Venice.

The Legislature responded by creating the new commission, comprised of the six lawmakers, six citizens appointed by the governor, and three additional members who serve by virtue of their office.

Knowles appointed his wife as one of the citizen representatives.

The first meeting of the new commission is scheduled for Dec. 11. The meeting will be held in the conference room Mrs. Knowles' wants to redecorate.

Beautification Contest

Two Neenah Schools Anti-Litter Finalists

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Six Fox Valley area schools have placed among the 15 finalists in the first annual state elementary school anti-litter and beautification contest, the governor's office has announced.

The state winner will be selected at a luncheon here Jan. 5, and receive a trophy presented by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

The area schools are Gresham School, of Gresham, Shawano County; Tullar School and Wilson School of Neenah; Cathedral School and Tank School of Green Bay; and the Riverview Elementary School of Wautoma, Waushara County.

The contest is sponsored by the Keep Wisconsin Clean committee of the Wisconsin Natural Beauty Council.

National Award
Main speaker at the luncheon will be Allen H. Seed, Jr., executive vice president of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., of New York. Last year the state was presented with the national state award by the group, and also won a similar award from Holiday Magazine.

The state department of public instruction invited all of the state's 2,767 public and private elementary schools to take part in the contest. Cost of the luncheon and trophies will be donated by the Kimberly-Clark Corporation of Neenah.

Representatives of all 15 schools reaching the finals will be present to take part in the luncheon, and all will receive awards for their work.

Other cities represented include Madison, Clinton, Beloit, Eagle, Evansville, Milwaukee, Sheboygan and Eagle River.

White House Chef Prepares Wedding Buffet Features Hot and Cold Delicacies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two chefs, expert in international cuisine, are preparing a mouth-watering array of hot and cold food for the White House wedding reception of Lynda Johnson and Marine Captain Charles Robb on Saturday.

The buffet, to be served at small round tables in the State Dining Room and a pink-lined tent set up on an adjoining rooftop terrace, will provide late afternoon snacks, rather than dinner fare, for the 500 wedding guests invited to the 4 p.m. wedding.

The traditional champagne—American—will be served, plus drinks and a special gingerale and fruit punch.

Here's the list of delicacies as issued by the White House:

Hot dishes—lobster Barquettes (broiled in oval pastry shells), crabmeat Bouchees (in shells), stuffed mushrooms, miniature Shishkebab, Quiche Lorraine (a baked dish of eggs, cheese and ham), country ham and bisquets.

Cold platters include sliced smoked salmon sprinkled with capers, molds of chicken liver pate, iced shrimp with dressing, assorted raw vegetables with watercress and Roquefort dip, assorted cheeses and finger sandwiches.

An assortment of sweets includes the 6-foot tall, fondant-iced wedding cake, miniature eclairs and cream puffs, chocolate roulades, strawberry, apricot and blueberry tartlettes and petit fours.

Secret of Lynda, Chuck's House Reaches Newsmen

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's daughter and her Marine fiance lost a major skirmish in their battle for some privacy—their newly rented house has been discovered in a quiet Arlington, Va., neighborhood.

The Wednesday disclosure, three days before their wedding, was sure to disappoint Lynda Bird Johnson and Capt. Charles S. Robb.

Robb earlier told reporters he and his bride-to-be had rented a furnished house in the "Washington metropolitan area." But Robb said he preferred not to discuss it any further "just so that we do have some privacy."

"I think you will understand," added the 28-year-old Marine.

Spot Telephone
But it didn't take long for their secret to leak out, especially when neighbors spotted some unusual telephone installation going on at 3556 Valley St.

The house, located in a cul de sac development—one of a cluster of 15 homes, reportedly in about the $50,000 range—is an L-shaped, ranch-style dwelling.

The couple had planned to live there for a brief time until Robb reports March 29 to Camp Pendleton, Calif., on his way to a year's duty in Vietnam.

Heart Attack
The First Family was saddened by the death Wednesday night of pastry chef Clement Maggia, 74, who had been in the process of completing a 6-foot-tall, 250-pound wedding cake.

Maggia died of a heart attack after dining with his wife and relatives at a Washington hotel. The executive chef and instructor at the Greenbriar resort hotel in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had baked the cake there and come to the White House Monday to put the five layers together and apply the elaborate white fondant icing.

Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, expressing the sympathy of the First Family on the death of the internationally known Italian-born chef, said: "Those of us who knew him these past few days enjoyed his presence, and particularly his enthusiasm."

She said Mrs. Maggia told the White House it was her husband's "crowning glory to be asked to decorate the cake."

Earlier Robb paid his $2 for a marriage license at the District of Columbia marriage license bureau. He went alone but was quickly surrounded by photographers. Robb apologized to the clerk for the resulting commotion.

He and Lynda were supposed to have a free night Wednesday from the round of partying in their honor. They were out somewhere together when the news came of the chef's death and the secret of their house got out.

Adds Flourishes

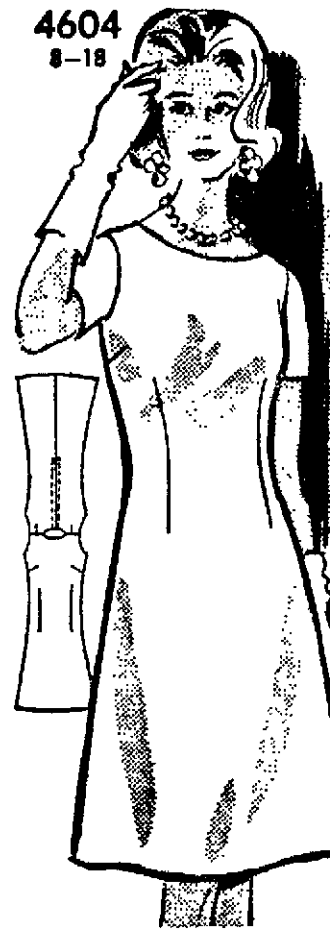

Just for a change, add lemon to the flavoring to sugar cookie dough. Along with the flavoring you may also add a little grated lemon rind.

Neighbors Say This House in Washington's suburb of Arlington, Va., will be occupied by Lynda Bird Johnson and Marine Capt. Charles Robb when they return from their honeymoon.

Sheinwold Signal Can Help Win Contract

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Most experienced bridge players are familiar with the Suit Preference Signal, invented by Trenton, N.J., expert H. Lavintal some 30 years ago. Today's hand shows a facet of the signal that even experts sometimes overlook.

West opened the queen of hearts, and declarer wisely took the trick with dummy's ace. He then led the king of diamonds to West's ace.

West returned the jack of hearts, and East ruffed. Thanks to South's careful play at the first trick this ruff cost nothing since South was able to play low from both hands.

Still, the contract was in jeopardy. East's problem was to get back to his partner for another ruff. How was he to do so?

East foolishly returned a club, and declarer won in dummy with the king. South hastened to discard the king of hearts on the queen of diamonds, and now he could safely knock out the ace of spades and claim his contract.

Now let's go back a few tricks and see what would happen if East thinks carefully. West took the second trick with the ace of diamonds and led the jack of hearts. In this situation, West would lead his lowest heart if he had the ace of clubs (the lowest suit); but West would lead a high heart if his entry were in a high suit.

Obviously the jack of hearts was not West's lowest heart, so that West could not be showing that he held the ace of clubs. Since West surely held another ace for his opening bid that ace had to be the ace of spades.

East should return a trump after ruffing the jack of hearts. West wins with the ace of spades and leads another heart, whereupon East's ruff defeats the contrast.

Daily Question
Partner opens with 2-NT, and the next player passes. You hold: S-8 5 4, H-6, D-10 9 7 6 2, C-J 10 9 4. What do you say?

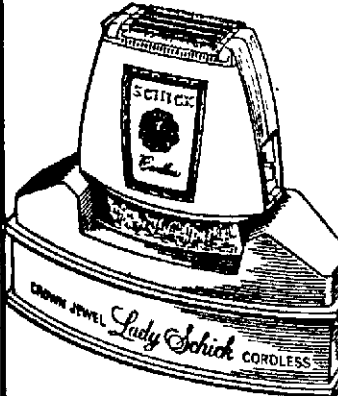

Answer: Pass. Partner needs more than one jack to make game. You would be willing to risk a bid of three diamonds if your partner would pass, but he would bid again and you would get much too high. The best bet is to pass before anybody doubles.

Guilt Feelings Cause Reader To 'Want Out' of His Marriage

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: When would "cure" me but I was homosexuals ask if they should get married for any reason whatever tell them: "No."
Right now I am trying to figure out what to say to my wife. She knows something is wrong but she has no idea what the real problem is. I've started to tell her a dozen times but I can't get the words out.
Don't say I need psychiatric help. I have no desire to be straight. I just want out of this marriage. I'm being unfair to on our honeymoon.
my wife and it is giving me a terrific guilt complex. She wants problem down on paper often a family. I don't. I am happy produces a solution but it didn't only when I'm with my gay for me. Tell me what to do. — A crowd. I thought marriage Guy

Landers

Dear Guy: Hand your wife this column and tell her you are the "Guy."
There's a good chance that the marriage could be annulled. See a lawyer. If an annulment is out, a divorce is the answer. The sooner you free your wife to live a normal life with a man who can give her love and children, the better.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I vowed to clean out my attic. I started out brimming with energy. I planned to get the job done by 5 p.m. Well, I ran into a box of letters from my old sweetheart (the man I nearly married) and there I sat for four and a half hours. I ended up burning the letters but had I been a troublemaker I could have done otherwise. The man who wrote the letters is now a prominent citizen in this community and his face would be fire-engine red if I had shown them around.

The moral of my story is: Don't put anything in a letter that might sit in someone's attic for 25 years. — Gallant Lady
Dear Gallant: Sounds as if the letters were fairly sizzling, which raises this question: Why do you congratulate yourself for destroying them? Had you shown them around you'd have wound up looking pretty scarlet yourself, Toots.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A great deal is said these days about international relations. What about people-to-people relations? What has become of those fine old qualities called kindness and courtesy? Once upon a time these two ingredients were essential to business success.

Today when you ask a waitress for service she tells you she only has two hands or she makes some other rude remark. Carrier boys throw your paper in the bushes, on the roof or in the mud and you can like it or lump it. Sales people are mouthy and indifferent. A promise to deliver merchandise means nothing. If you don't want to accept the merchandise when it comes, someone else will.

Why do we let 'em get away with it? What's the answer? — Disgusted In Tampa

DEAR TAMPA: Today we are experiencing a seller's market. This is one of the penalties we pay for prosperity. Jobs are plentiful. Good help is in short supply. More people have more of everything — except initiative and pride in achievement.
Nevertheless, I do not buy your sweeping generalities. There are still some courteous waitresses, gentle sales people and industrious carrier boys around. Granted not as high a percentage as there used to be, but if you speak kindly you'll find them.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Activity Helps Aged Retain Self Esteem

By ROB WOOD
DURHAM, N.C. (AP) - The key word for the aged is "self-esteem," says Dr. E. W. Busse Jr., chairman of the Psychiatry Department at Duke University's Medical Center.

"Without self-esteem," he said "they cannot maintain their health."

Convince Elder
Dr. Busse, one of the nation's foremost authorities on aging, explained, "Our society which has little appreciation for the monachiever, must convince the elderly they are worthwhile and needed."

Dr. Busse is director of the U.S. Public Health Service's Regional Center for the Study of the Aging. The center, on the Duke campus, was founded in 1957, the first such unit in the nation.

Dr. Busse initiated a research project at Duke in 1964 on the relationship of various physiological, psychological and social factors on the aging process. Some 260 volunteers over 60 have participated in this continuing program. Every three years the volunteers come to the center for two days of rigorous medical and psychological examinations.

The center is concerned with various aspects of aging—the changes that take place in the brain; the effects of various emotional states on body processes; the influence of physical slowdown on the social and psychological adjustment of the aged; factors that make a person older or younger than his chronological age.

Dr. Busse, recently appointed to the U.S. Public Health's National Advisory Child Health and Human Development Council, said the studies have shown there is no direct relationship between retirement and decline in health and consequently death.

Death Rate Increases
"But," he said, "there is evidence that the death rate for elderly persons increases shortly after admission to homes for the aged."

It long has been known, Dr. Busse explained, "that social deprivation and hostile social influences have pathological consequences for infants."

"Now we know the same is true for the elderly. They must remain productive. Before retirement an individual gained esteem by money, position, achievement. With these withdrawn, something must be found as a replacement."

"Therefore," Dr. Busse continued, "society has a responsibility to the aged. Society must supply the needed requirements—the opportunity for the elderly to contribute, praise for their work."

As advice to those nearing retirement, Dr. Busse said they first must face up to the situation, and then set definite goals for the years ahead.

"The aged," he said, "must remain active. You don't let a valuable machine rust."

Chuck Discusses His Career, Lynda, During 'Fireside Chat'

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lynda Johnson's fiancé, Capt. Charles Robb, hopes he won't get special treatment from the Marines in Vietnam because, as the President's son-in-law, he might be a special propaganda target for the enemy.

Robb, 28, who describes himself as a restless individual, mainly interested in sports and "an infantry officer by trade," is due to report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., March 29 en route to a year's duty in Vietnam.

In response to requests for interviews, he met with reporters for a fireside chat and went through a barrage of questions about everything from his romance to his politics.

He likes everything about Lynda from her looks to her "keen mind" and the fact that "she's a delightful person to be with."

Asked whether he's a Democrat, Robb said military men "shy away from discussing politics." And he said he isn't certain whether his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Robb of Milwaukee, are Democrats.

Requested Vietnam
Robb said he's been requesting Vietnam duty since 1962 because he feels it's his obligation. He refused to indicate any assignment preference—combat or otherwise—because he said it might be misconstrued or misunderstood.

"I certainly want you to understand that, like anyone else, I will go over and will take whatever job is assigned to me and do it to the best of my ability."

A reporter suggested his capture "would be a tremendous propaganda victory for the enemy. Won't that be considered in your assignment?"

"I would truthfully hope that it won't," Robb replied, adding that he thinks he will be treated essentially as if he had gone without any White House connection.

"Admittedly," he added, "capture by the enemy is one of the possibilities. But I would say it is reasonably remote and I am sure not going to go over there with that particular fear or any greater concern for that possibility than any other fighting man would have."

First News Conference
Robb, dressed in civilian clothes, told reporters it was his first news conference. But he had the situation well in hand, joking and neatly turning aside tough questions.

He displayed the curved, ivory-handled, 34-inch ceremonial sword he won as honor man of his basic-training class at Quantico, Va., and said he thinks it is sharp enough to cut the wedding cake Saturday.

He came on strong about his feelings about Lynda, saying she attracted him first of all by her beauty. Besides that, he thinks she has "a very keen mind" and is very perceptive.

Lynda has a wonderful sense of humor. . . . is always very interesting. . . . a very warm person, easy to get along with which probably would surprise a number of people when they think people in her position would be hard to meet. Really, she is very, very easy to meet, very easy to get along with, just a delightful person to be with."

Robb met Lynda when he was assigned as a White House social aide in February 1966. They had their first real date during the July 4th weekend. Robb thinks their romance really blossomed, though, when Lynda went away for a London vacation last July and both realized "we meant a little more to each other than perhaps we thought initially."

Well Qualified Wife
Asked whether he thinks Lynda will make a good Marine wife, Robb smiled and said, "I'm marrying a girl that is well qualified to be a wife under any circumstances."

It doesn't bother him that Lynda concedes she can't cook. "Her cooking is progressing nicely," Robb reported. "We both understood neither of us was marrying a gourmet chef."

He's for working wives, too, and hopes Lynda will continue her magazine writing job after they're married.

Robb laughed at a question on whether he could support Lynda in the manner to which she's accustomed.

"Oh, boy," he said. "It would be a bit naive to say that I have the means to make it an extremely luxurious life to begin with."

His Marine Corps pay and allowances will come to about $850 a month and Robb said "We are both very thrifty and both certainly objective enough to know that we are going to have to live within our means."

Furnished House
For the first two months, at least, they've rented a furnished house in the Washington metropolitan area, but want to keep the locale and description secret.

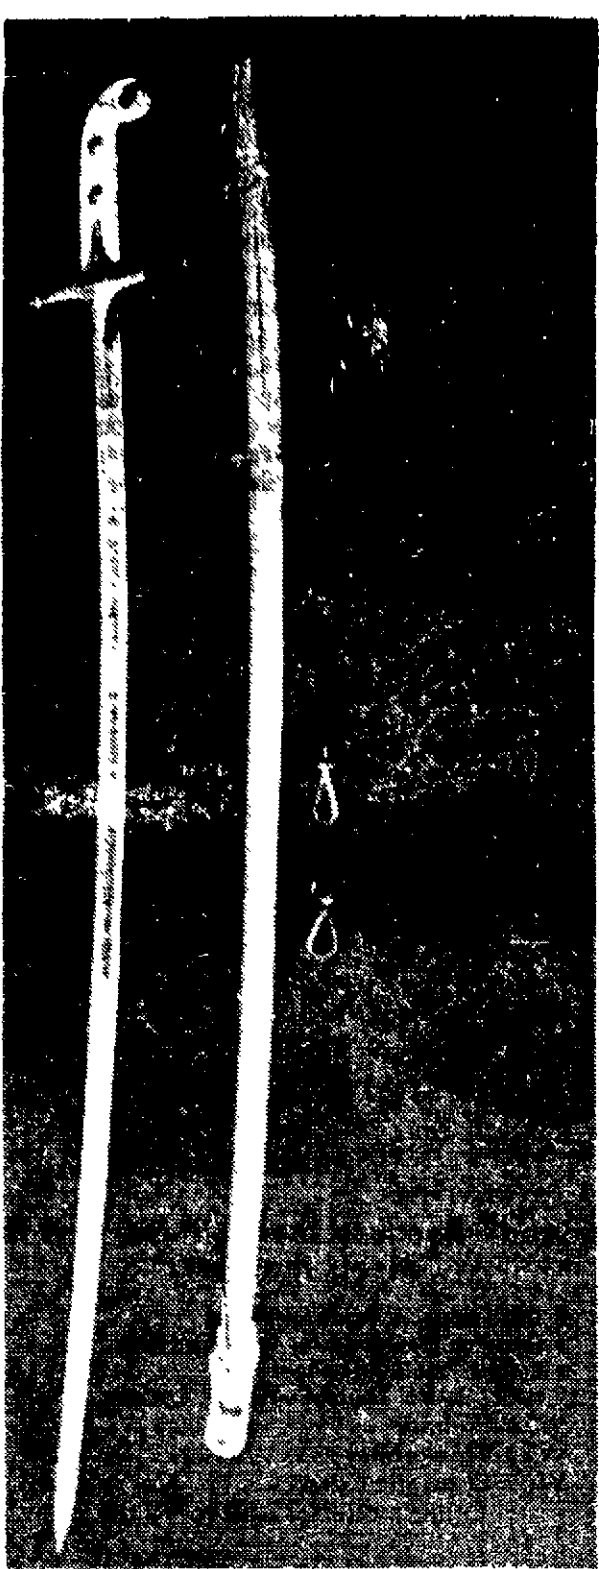

They may do some traveling in March when Robb has annual leave and travel time off to get to Camp Pendleton.

He'll continue on duty until the wedding day and then have a 20-day leave.

Despite the fact that he's gung ho about the Marine Corps, in which he's served 6-and-one-half years, Robb hasn't decided whether he'll stay in after his Vietnam tour.

A lean, dark-haired, hazel-eyed young man, 6 feet, 1½ inches tall, Robb says sports are his main interest. His favorite sport now is volleyball, but he likes everything from football to golf.

Robb concedes he doesn't read as much as he'd like, explaining he's "a fairly restless individual and I dislike staying seated or motionless too long. I have a lot of energy that I like to expend."

Lynda Bird Johnson and Marine Capt. Charles Robb will cut their wedding cake with this sword following their Dec. 9, White House marriage. Capt. Robb was presented this sword in December, 1961, when he was the honor graduate of his Basic School at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. (AP Wirephoto)

Choosing Wife's Present Often Ordeal at Christmas

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals for a husband is finding out what to give his wife for Christmas.

The rest of the year the average housewife is only too explicit in expressing her wants.

She wants the house painted or she wants the family to have a color television set or she wants a new giant-sized refrigerator or she wants a fur coat or she wants a new electric dishwasher that will also play music or she wants to take a vacation in Hawaii.

But at the approach of yuletide wives suddenly elect to become mysterious as to their demands and wishes. They turn into coy martyrs.

"And what do you want Santa Claus to bring you, dear?" asks the husband, after blanching at the three-page list of presents their children have drawn up as the bare requirements for their continued existence.

No Help at All
"Oh, nothing—nothing at all," replies the wife.

"What do you mean—nothing?" she can't swim and that, besides, you know darn well I'm going to get you something for Christmas. What would the kids think if I didn't? What would the neighbors say?"

"Well, I really don't want any-thing at all. Whatever you get, if you really feel you have to get me something, don't get me anything that is foolish and expensive."

So, if you're the husband, you start using the kids as intermediaries in the matter.

"Find out if your mother wants a bottle of perfume."

"Mama don't want no perfume. She says she'd just as soon go on using that after shave lotion you won on a punchboard."

"How about a nice big electric blanket?"

"Mama says our electric bills are already too high."

"Well, she loves music. See if she'd like to have a collection of Mozart recordings."

"Mama says to tell you that if you spent more time in the house you'd know that our phonograph hasn't been working for at least four months."

Exasperating Situation
You begin to get exasperated. "Ask your mother," you tell the kids ironically. "Whether she'd like a one-man plastic submarine. I can get one for $15,000 that's a bargain."

"Oh, boy, Pop, that's a great idea!" the kids yell, overcome with the thought that their own mother will be the first one in the block to own her own submarine. But they later report back dolefully:

"Mom don't want no submarine. She says you know that she can't swim and that, besides, it gives her claustrophobia even to hang up clothes in the closet. Let alone going for a ride in a submarine."

Finally you give up on the kids and take your problem to a superior air. "Of course your wife said not to buy her something that was silly and expensive," he says with a superior air. "Of course she said she wanted something practical. So did my wife."

But the last thing any wife wants for Christmas is anything practical. I exchanged it for a hair dryer and a new set of dishes."

When sending bananas in a lunch box wrap them in aluminum foil and fold edges tightly three or four times. This prevents any banana odor from getting into the rest of the lunch.

rated with rhinestones hand-painted by a noted artist who once shook hands with Picasso."

Panic Sets In
So, on the last shopping day before Christmas, you hasten to the department store. They don't have any rhinestone-studded silk evening stoles. Panic grabs you.

"But we do have—marked down to $127.49 from $350—a lovely housecoat made of genuine African ostrich feathers," says the salesman. "It's the only one we have left in stock."

"How many did you have to start with?"

"Two," says the honest salesman. "I just bought the other one for my own wife. Couldn't figure out what else to give her."

"Wrap it up. I'll take it with me."

Well, Christmas morning your wife breaks down and cries when she sees her ostrich-feathered housecoat.

"It's the one thing in life I've always wanted," she says, then adds reproachfully: "But you shouldn't have—it looks so terribly expensive."

Along about February when you ask why she isn't wearing it, she answers:

"It was beautiful but awfully impractical. I exchanged it for a hair dryer and a new set of dishes."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

GOOD MOTHERS NEVER LOSE THEIR TEMPER!

TRUE or FALSE?

False Child-rearing can be much harm as pretending all's plenty aggravating! Almost any woman gets annoyed at her growing youngsters occasionally. If she bottles up irritation and tries to appear calm and poised when she seethes inside, she'll either feel "awful" or blow up later over some little thing. Letting a child know she'll take no more naughtiness, even by losing her temper, won't do as well when it isn't.

2. Should you memorize a speech before giving it?

Yes — No —

No, say most speech experts, unless you're in some oratorical contest! The most important thing in getting your point over is not smoothness. It is the sparkle, the spontaneity, the punch. Even your eccentricities may help. If your peculiarities are annoying, learn to correct them. But some individualities add to your charm.

Tripoli Auxiliary Announces New Officers

Mrs. Florian Heinrich has been elected chairman of the Tripoli Unit Auxiliary. Mrs. Archie Mauk will serve as vice-chairman; Mrs. Gordon Rohm, treasurer; Mrs. Clarence Martin, secretary and Mrs. Clyde Lathrop, sunshine chairman.

The auxiliary plans a 1 p.m. Monday dessert Christmas party at the home of Mrs. R. A. Raschig, 1314 Oak Crest Court. Co-hostess will be Mrs. R. S. Richter.

The New Director of the federal-state welfare program, Miss Mary E. Switzer, hopes, with new legislation soon to be passed by Congress, to really try to help welfare clients get off the welfare rolls. The legislation will provide money to give job training to persons on welfare.

Welfare Clients Termed Victims of Today's Society

By JACK MILLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mary when it's so difficult to get someone to cut the grass. But the federal-state welfare they don't realize that these jobs wouldn't pay enough to support these people even if they worked at them all day.

"We simply have never really tried," says Miss Switzer. She promised—with the help of legislation she expects to be passed soon by Congress—to make the attempt. "But we haven't got much time," she said in an interview.

She said taxpayers are rightfully fed up with the growing cost of welfare. And she said those on welfare have reached a point of dangerous frustration.

"There isn't anything that's so destructive of the inner life of a country as despair," she said. "And when you have so many millions of people who can't see the light at the end of the tunnel, then you've got some trouble."

Work and Training
Miss Switzer said the program to get people off the rolls will make "the maximum effort to provide work and training for those for whom it's appropriate."

The House and Senate are ironing out differences on slightly varying plans that for the first time would provide large amounts of money to give job training to welfare recipients. The plans also would finance day care for children of welfare parents who work.

Miss Switzer, 67, was named in August to head the newly created Social and Rehabilitation Service of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. She had won acclaim as director of the federal program to train and get jobs for the handicapped and hopes to apply the same principles to employable families on welfare.

Misconception of Welfare
Miss Switzer said most people have a misconception of the welfare system: "They think their money is going for a bunch of people who won't work."

She said that combined with deep racial feelings—a large percentage of welfare recipients are Negroes—has produced "an ugly mood and a dangerous mood in the country."

What most Americans don't understand about people on welfare, she said, is that they are "victims of almost cataclysmic changes in our society—particularly in the cities—and that welfare alone is only a very small part of what's needed to solve the problem."

"The average citizen thinks: 'I don't see why we should have

Yule Safety Practices Eliminate Fire Hazards

Fire hazard is of greatest concern during the Yule season because of extra loaded electrical circuits in the home, according to agricultural engineers at the University of Wisconsin.

Extra baking and use of kitchen appliances, indoor and outdoor Christmas lighting, and shortest days of the year combine to put extra strain on electrical wiring.

Overloading can be temporarily remedied by dividing the load between circuits. Use an extension cord to connect to another circuit that has less use.

Don't run extension cords across doorways or under rugs unless some insulative protection is provided. Check before using to be sure the cords are not frayed or worn.

If shopping for new lighting sets, check to see if label indicates approval of Underwriters Laboratory (UL). This label tells you the set is safe to use under the conditions for which it was designed. It doesn't necessarily insure good quality.

Consider buying one 25 light set rather than three seven light sets if to be used for one area.

As a final safety precaution, the engineers suggest, check to be sure all lighting is disconnected before leaving home.

Be sure of weather proof qualities when buying outdoor lighting. New sets will indicate such protection on the box. You may have discarded boxes from sets on hand so visually check these points: a rubber gasket needs to be between bulb and socket base to form a moisture seal when bulb is screwed in; connection plugs should have molded plugs and outlets.

If rubber gaskets are worn or lost, replace them with new gaskets available at most counters where lighting equipment is sold.

When installing outside lighting be sure electrical connections are off the ground. As an added protection wrap electric tape around the connection to seal against moisture.

The most successful way of lighting flocked or aluminum trees in the home is with a flood or spot light. R 30 or R 40 lamps are recommended and a rotating colored disc is an effective way to add color and interest to these trees.

Four Injured In Appleton

Woman in Hospital After 2-Car Crash Late Wednesday

Three accidents in Appleton late Wednesday afternoon and evening resulted in injuries to four persons.

Mrs. Esther Lange, 59, route 2, Manawa, was taken by ambulance to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 4:25 p.m. Wednesday with head injuries she suffered in a two-car accident at W. College Avenue and N. Richmond Streets.

Also injured in the accident was Mollie Beringer, 72, 1118 V. Lawrence St., who suffered a bruised left knee. She was taken by squad car to a doctor's office. Police said that a car driven by Walter W. Lange, 61, route 1, Manawa, was westbound on College Avenue when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Raymond Prasher, 59, 1118 1/2 W. Lawrence St.

Robert L. Reinke, 18, 1219 S. Kernan Ave., suffered a head injury and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by squad car when his auto and one driven by Marvin C. Filz, 45, 1418 W. Spencer St., collided at E. College and S. Walter avenues about 4:50 p.m.

Police said the Reinke car was southbound on Walter turning onto John Street and the Filz car was turning left onto E. College. Police said the Filz car did not yield the right of way.

Edward Besch, 116 Sunset Ave., Appleton, suffered a hand injury in an accident about 9 p.m. at E. Wisconsin Avenue and N. Meade Street. Besch was in a car driven by Richard J. Laux, 59, 2928 N. Meade St., which was turning left onto Meade Street when it was struck

Appleton Police Nab Fugitive

The alertness of an Appleton police patrolman resulted in the arrest early today of a 21-year-old Crandon man sought on a car theft charge.

The patrolman took the man into custody after stopping him about 3:50 a.m. in the 400 block of N. Appleton Street. The man told the patrolman he was looking for a job.

Upon checking the man's identification, the patrolman found that the name was the same as that contained in a police teletype message sent Wednesday evening from Forest County, where he was wanted in connection with the theft of a 1960 auto. The car reportedly was recovered in Green Bay.

The man, Dale B. Weber, 19, 821 N. Oneida St., who was westbound on

Kaukauna Youth Gets Probation

Charge Concerning July 29 Incident Is Amended Today

Larry B. Dake, 18, route 2, Kaukauna, was placed on probation for one year this morning after he pleaded guilty to an amended charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Dake, arrested following investigation by Outagamie County police, had been charged with having sexual intercourse with a 16-year-old Freedom girl on July 29. He had a preliminary hearing on that charge Sept. 20 and was bound over to Circuit Court where he appeared today.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell first sentenced Dake to nine months in the county jail, but then stayed execution of the sentence and placed Dake on one year probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services.

Richard Hamilton, assistant district attorney, told the court this morning he was asking for the reduced charge because further investigation revealed that "circumstances do not warrant a felony charge," and there was some question as to the testimony that could be gained from a state's witness.

Joseph Vandenoever, Outagamie County Sheriff's Department investigator, testified this morning that his department was notified of the incident about 4:40 a.m., July 29.

Liability May Rest With Municipalities

Insurance Coverage During Strikes, Riots May Be Canceled

Appleton officials were told Tuesday there is a strong chance insurance companies will exclude damage or injuries caused during riots or strikes from liability coverage for municipalities.

A spokesman for a leading insurance company told the board of public works the policy, expected to become effective Jan. 1, arises from racial riots and demonstrations in major cities.

It would mean cities could still get insurance coverage, but in the event of claims from riots, strikes or other public demonstrations — the municipality would be vulnerable for damages to persons and property.

Old Law

Under an old Wisconsin law, municipalities are liable for any injuries or property damage caused by public disturbances.

The insurance agent inferred there would be additional burden on governments to suppress riots, strikes and disturbances.

Unanimous Choice Mayor Heads Study of Centralized Purchasing

Mayor George Buckley was picked Wednesday to head a study group leading to the establishment of a centralized purchasing system for the entire city government, including public schools.

The board of public works Tuesday was unanimous in its recommendation that a task force be created to move on such a project and the mayor be its chairman.

The Council gave approval Wednesday night.

In recent weeks, Buckley has been pushing for a citywide purchasing agency for all departments, boards and commissions.

Several members of the common council in recent years also favored such a move but have been hesitant to take action in anticipation of board of education reaction.

Citywide Motor Pool

In addition, the committee would also make recommendations on creating a citywide equipment and vehicle motor pool.

The specific recommendation of the board was that Buckley be made chairman and appoint committee members, subject to confirmation of the council.

On another matter, the board said the land acquisition committee should hold another meeting with the owner of five acres of property the board of education wants for a new grade school to be built on the far northside in 1971 or 1972.

City negotiators said the owner was requesting $6,000 an acre and felt it wasn't worth it. They informed the board $2,600 or $2,700 might be a more appropriate figure.

The possibility of annexing property in Grand Chute for future school use will also be checked out by the committee.

Kimberly Boosts Tax Rate $8

For $1,718,902 1968 Budget

KIMBERLY — A tax rate increase in area planning expense of $8 per $1,000 assessed valuation was approved for in village board costs to $5,000, the $1,718,902 1968 budget by the village board Wednesday night. The 1967 budget was $1,445,041.

The increase will bring the total tax levy to $49 per $1,000 assessed valuation to raise $1,338,635 in taxes compared with $41 for the 1967 levy of $1,101,121.

State tax credit of $2.72 per $1,000 reduced the net tax to $38.28 in 1967 whereas the tax credit, slightly less at $2.63 for 1968, makes a net tax rate $46.37.

Total budget increase is $273,861 and $209,079 is due to rising school costs which jumped from $806,493 in 1967 to $1,015,572. This includes an increase of about $39,000 in Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 costs.

State and county taxes jumped $32,659 from the $187,950 in 1967 to $220,609 in 1968.

Other areas of the budget account for only $32,132 of the total increase.

General government costs were increased $7,132 to $53,638 which includes about a $3,500 increase in area planning expense to $5,706; a $1,000 increase for the library; a $1,000 increase for the recreation program expenses, and a slight boost in band operation costs.

Highway and service garage costs were $90,260 in 1967 compared with $97,560 in 1968, $5,000 of the difference a result of increased street lighting costs to $17,000. Street material and snow removal costs account for the balance of the increase.

Unclassified expenses were increased from $32,900 to $45,300 and contingency fund of $7,500 was set up in this category in 1968 for salary adjustments not yet in specific categories. A $5,000 increase in water department refund expense accounts for most of the remaining increase.

Indebtedness payments dropped from $79,900 in 1967 to $67,711. Principal and interest payments were down on several bond issues.

Outlays in the 1967 budget amounted to $52,400 compared with $64,100 in 1968, but plans call for a $15,000 increase in street construction in 1968 to $25,000. Outlays for improving Sunset Park were increased $10,000 to $15,000, but a $10,000 village hall expense experienced in 1967 will not be in the budget in 1968.

Revenue in 1967 amounted to $343,921 compared with an anticipated $380,266 in 1968, an increase of $36,345. State income tax receipts are expected to be up $9,000 to $190,000, water department refunds up $10,000 and construction $23,000.

Retirement Bill Opposed At Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — The village board instructed the clerk Tuesday night to write state representatives in objection to the bill before the Senate proposing retirement of police and firemen at age 55.

Action was taken after members of the ordinance committee reported the bill, if passed, would cost state taxpayers over $3,000,000 and could result in municipalities losing services of key personnel at an early age.

Approval was given to buy five fire hydrants for about $1,100 from Darling Valve Co., Williamsport, Pa.

The board authorized payment of 17,794 to the Outagamie County Highway department.

Dudley, senior warden; Leslie O'Dell, junior warden; Stanley Beguhn, treasurer; Olin Dryer, secretary; and Clarence Theis, 3-year trustee.

Elected officials and officers to be appointed later will be installed Dec. 27.

The children's Christmas party for Masonic families and the Eastern Star chapter will be at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Seek Funds to Speed Planning Of Watersheds

Shortage of Personnel to Hand Applications

SPECIAL TO THE POST-CRESCENT
MILWAUKEE — A proposal by the Wisconsin Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts for a $100,000 annual allotment to speed watershed planning in the state was endorsed here Wednesday by Lt. Gov. Jack Olson.

Olson said he favored the idea and was sure the Legislature would give it "serious consideration." The proposal is one of a number of resolutions being offered for member consideration at today's business session.

State financial assistance is necessary to gain federal aid for planning under PL 566. Applications have increased steadily, but money for sufficient personnel to process them has not been available. The watershed planning party would be supervised by the state Soil Conservation Board.

Seek Amendment

In a related matter, the state association proposes to ask its national counterpart to seek an amendment to a House bill to require approval of all farm plans and agreements under PL 566 by the local soil and water conservation districts.

The districts presently have jurisdiction over other related programs from the State Legislature.

The Association also proposes: Passage of a State Senate bill providing for a 10-year program of topographic mapping of all state lands under a state-federal cost sharing program. The maps are essential to many district projects.

Support of the upper Great Lakes Regional Development Commission proposals for the three states totaling $203 million, which will be presented to Congress for funding next year.

Bear Creek Man Hurt as Car Skids

Thomas E. Ransom, 19, route 1, Bear Creek, suffered undetermined injuries Wednesday morning when his car left Birch Road, a half mile east of Outagamie County Trunk XX.

Ransom was treated at Clintonville hospital, police said. The mishap was reported to police some time after it occurred. Ransom reportedly was east-bound on Birch Road when his 1962 auto slid off the road on an ice-covered curve. Police estimated damage at $250.

Little Chute Resident Reports Theft of $200

LITTLE CHUTE — Gerald Hietpas, 401 E. Lincoln Ave., Little Chute, complained to police of the theft of over $200 in bills and coins from a bank kept in the bedroom of his home.

Hietpas could give police no idea of how long the money may have been missing, but indicated it may have been prior to the deer hunting season because it had been that long since the bank was checked.

Shore Land Not Lost, Conservationists Told

Olson Tells Convention New Zoning Laws Are Aimed at Insuring Wise Use of Area

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor
MILWAUKEE — Lt. Gov. Jack Olson, speaking to a state conference of county soil and water conservation district supervisors here Wednesday, clarified some misconceptions about the state's Water Resources Act.

Olson flew in from New York City, where he had been honored by Sport's Illustrated magazine as a member of the 25th anniversary All-American football team. Olson played his collegiate football at Western Michigan.

He was speaking in place of Gov. Warren Knowles, who was still hospitalized. Olson said the governor told him he expected to return home Friday.

"The law says that shoreland 1,000 feet around the lakes and 300 feet from streams must be zoned. Floodplains, depending upon terrain, could extend back even greater distances from the normal channel," he explained.

Land Not Lost

"These zoning laws do not, as some landowners seem to believe, mean that strips that wide must be fenced off by farmers or abandoned for cottage or commercial development," he said.

"The aim of the law is not to prohibit, but to promote, wise use of these floodplains and shorelands," he said.

The criteria for both have been written so neither adversely affects the farm. "There are restrictions regarding placement of feedlots and barn yards so that animal wastes will not be washed into watercourses, but the state's program will lead to saving the soil and preserving the lakes and streams.

"The marginal operator," he warned, "who ignores the resource management practices cannot survive. The wise land manager knows he can weather both the natural and economic storm."

"Your greatest contribution may have been in restoring confidence in the individual's ability to improve rather than despoil his environment," Olson said.

11-Pluses Dropped In British Schools

By LYNN HEINZERLING
LONDON (AP) — Johnny Bull is getting a better break in school. An old British practice, making Johnny prove at the age of 11 years his right to a full education of his own choice, is gradually disappearing.

Comprehensive schools, which permit all pupils to study and advance according to their abilities, are taking the place of the old schools which divided 11-year-olds into the "elite" and the ordinary.

When fully installed, supporters say, the new schools will reduce snobbery in education and open up universities to a much wider slice of British society.

The small but prestigious private schools like Eton, Harrow and Rugby probably will remain for the few who prefer to pay fees for their secondary education.

Cutoff Test
Under the old system, pupils wound up the primary stage of their education by taking an ex-

Man Charged in Driving Death of Illinois Policeman

HANOVER PARK, Ill. (AP)—A rural La Crosse man was charged with reckless homicide and reckless driving Monday following a high-speed police chase that ended in the death of one officer and the injury of another.

Clarence E. Gotz, 41, allegedly smashed into a roadblock set up by Streamwood police after authorities in three other Chicago suburbs radioed for help in chasing his car.

They said the chase started in Itasca, when Gotz allegedly refused to curb his auto for a policeman who accused him of speeding.

Streamwood Police Sgt. Sel Genualdi, 35, was killed when Gotz' car struck him as he stood in front of his squad car, which was set up as a roadblock, authorities said.

Genualdi's partner suffered minor injuries when the pursued car crashed into the auto in which he was sitting, they said.

Man Hospitalized

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad took Ted Brunke, 84, 39 Bellaire Court, to St. Elizabeth Hospital about 10:20 p.m. Tuesday when he experienced difficulty breathing.

amination. This came usually at the age of 11 or "11 plus," which gave the system its name.

Results determined whether the pupils went on, with a chance at trying for a university education. If they failed the "11 plus," they went instead to a "secondary modern" school, usually a synonym for vocational or technical training, or became a dropout at 15.

Under the comprehensive plan school children move out of primary school without the fateful examination and they can change from one stream of study to another as they advance. All classes and all grades of intelligence mingle.

Anthony Crosland, secretary of state for education and science until recently, has explained the change:

For Middle Class
"Our schools have been essentially geared to educating the middle class, plus a few from below who aspired to be middle class or looked like desirable recruits to the middle class. The remainder were given cheaper teachers and inferior buildings; they were segregated in separate schools.

"Segregation as early as 11-plus is indefensible. You do not feed a child less because it grows slowly or has some initial handicap to overcome."

Local authorities shape education in their areas. The Ministry of Education decides largely how much money can be spent and how many teachers employed, but the local authorities have the final word on organization and method.

System Spreading
In the two years since the reorganization of secondary education started, 69 of the 165 local authorities have implemented or approved programs for reorganizing their entire school systems. Another 28 authorities have approved schemes for part of their areas. There are 52 proposals still under consideration either on a national or local level.

The ministry has rejected 12 proposals and four authorities have declined to submit schemes.

The smart private schools which turn out young English gentlemen and ladies with impeccable accents, scholarly backgrounds and important social connections are bending somewhat toward the new trend. But most are too small to become comprehensive institutions of learning. Since most of them are boarding schools, there is also the question of fees.

Eton charges $1,719 a year, including room and board. Eighteen of Britain's prime ministers have been Old Etonians.

Exams Changed
Eton is changing its scholarship examination so that Greek and Latin will not be required, thus making an opening for boys from state schools.

More sweeping changes will be required to please Britain's Trade Union Council, representing organized workers. It has demanded that schools such as Eton be integrated into the public education system.

Until World War II it was generally accepted that only one in four pupils deserved an academic education. Postwar technologies changed that.

This year 200,000 students attend 43 universities in the United Kingdom with its population of 55 million. Some 40,000 eligible students were unable to find places.

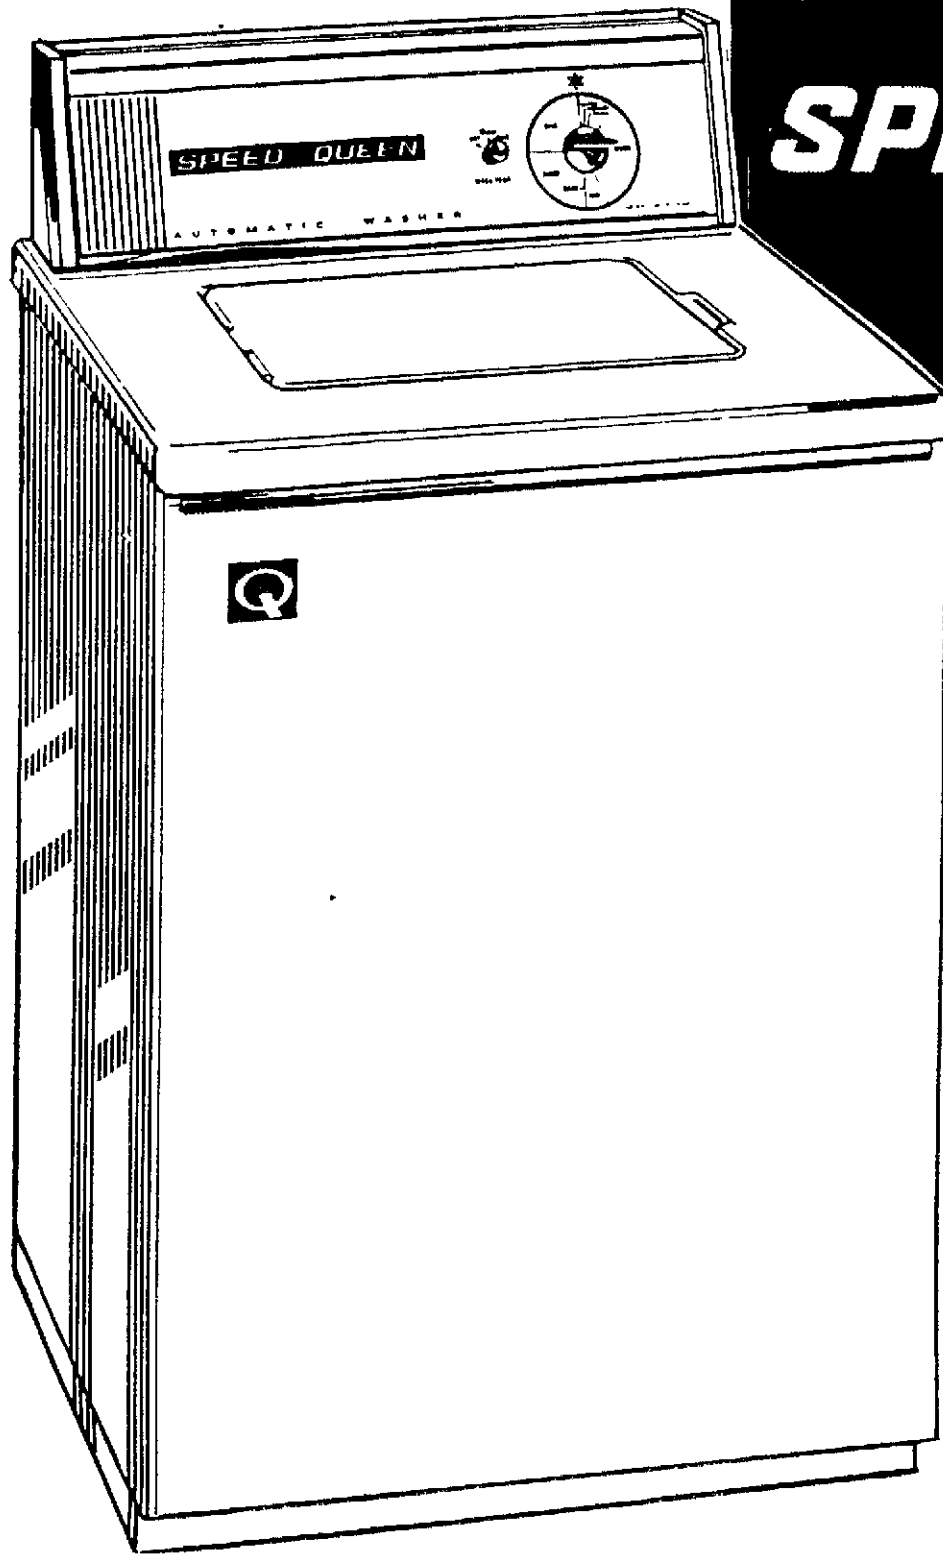

Critics suggest that Britain's elite educational system has seemed to go hand in hand with the country's slow rate of economic growth.

Sciatica Variations Have Different Cures

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor diagnosed my low hip and leg pain as sciatica. I understand sometimes exercise can relieve this. I was also told that if exercise did not help, a myelogram was the next step. What exactly is this, and do doctors use this test to determine if surgery is necessary?—S.R.

“Sciatica” is pain in the region served by the sciatic nerve, which originates in the lower part of the spine and extends down the back of the thighs.

But assuming that there is a single cause of this trouble, and a single kind of treatment, is wrong. There are several causes. Some pressure on the sciatic nerve as it emerges from the spine is one. In other cases it may be a metabolic disorder — gout and diabetes are examples. In still other cases, injury may have damaged the nerve or caused pressure on it.

Depending on the specific cause, exercise sometimes is helpful, but the type of exercise should be determined by your physician, basing his judgment on your case. An exercise which helps you might be of no value on the sciatic nerve as it to someone else with “sciatica.”

A myelogram, often needed in these cases, is an X-ray study in which material is injected into the spinal fluid to make the lower part of the spinal canal clearly visible. It may show a ruptured or damaged disc, or even some such condition as a tumor of the spinal cord.

If either of these (or some other deformity of the spine) is discovered, then you have evidence on which to decide whether surgery is the proper answer.

Dear Dr. Molner: I’m going to be frank and honest because you need all the facts to give me an answer. I am a married woman. I have a boyfriend who is also married. We know what we are doing is wrong and don’t need any advice on that.

The problem is that when we try to have sex relations he becomes impotent. He has the desire but is unable to. This has never happened with anyone but me. This bothers him very much and is beginning to bother me.

Can you give us a reason for this? Please sign me— WHY?

A guilty conscience can account for your concubine’s impotence. Your relationship is illicit. It apparently bothers him more than it does you.

Dear Dr. Molner. Please give me some information about cross-eyes in children. My 3-year-old grandson’s eye turns out. Must there be surgery? Or can it be treated otherwise—Mrs. A. W.

There is no fixed rule. In most cases surgery is either the best or surest way, and sometimes the only way.

Only way you can get the answer to this question is to take the child, as soon as possible, to an eye specialist.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend is being given shots and pills for high blood pressure. Her doctor has ordered her not to eat cheese in any form because he said a chemical used in its manufacture is harmful to a person with high blood pressure. What is your opinion?—Mrs. W.C.

The doctor’s advice is sound, but I think the reason has been slightly misunderstood. Certain tranquilizers are used for control of blood pressure. A by-product, particularly in aged cheese, augments the effect of the tranquilizer. Chianti wine and pickled herring also should be avoided when these drugs are being taken.

It isn’t a matter of the cheese or other items having any effect on the high blood pressure; rather it is a matter of altering the effect of the medication, making it difficult to arrive at proper dosage.

Consumers to Save Record Total in U.S.

Higher Percentages
Retained to Reach
$37.8 Billion Level

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — It now seems certain that for the entire year 1967 the American consumer will have saved more money than in any other year in history.

The amazing total of $37.8 billion a year, based on the present savings rate, results not just from the growing number of consumers and constantly rising income, but also because the ratio of savings to income is sharply higher this year.

So far in 1967 the ratio is 7 per cent, the highest for any sustained period since 1958, when fewer consumers existed and much lower wages prevailed.

Normal Rate
In 1966 the total was $30 billion. And in 1965, when the savings rate was a more normal 5.8 per cent of disposable income, the total of personal savings was only $27 billion.

Using the 7 per cent ratio it is quite easy for any individual to assess his comparative standing, simply by multiplying his after-tax income and inserting two decimal points.

If you, as an individual or as one of the nation's 50 million heads of family, had after-tax income of $5,000, for example, you would have had to save $350 to keep pace. If your disposable income was $8,000, your savings would be $560.

It remains for historians to analyze this unusually conservative behavior, which began to develop along with inflation, rising interest rates and tight money last year, and which has a corollary in the housewife's revolt against high food prices.

Sales Sluggish
It requires no analyses, however, to uncover the consequences of this change. Retail sales have grown at a rate less than expected. Car sales have been sluggish. Installment credit has risen only slowly. Debt repayment has been swift.

The consumer has proved, in other words, that with his discretionary financial power—his choice to either spend or save—he can greatly influence the course and fluctuations of the economy.

It is perhaps only partly a coincidence that after the housewife attacked the grocer last year food prices began to stabilize. Retail prices have risen 3 per cent since then, but food prices have gone up only one-tenth that percentage.

Credit Growth
One of the more fundamental changes wrought by this conservatism has been in consumer credit, where a powerful long-term trend has been slowed.

The wide use of consumer credit has been one of the fuels energizing the post-World War II economy. The expansion in its use has, literally, amounted to a revolution in American attitudes and living habits.

Gone, for example, is the old ethic that said what is purchased must first be won with toil. The attitude now is quite opposite: buy now and pay later with income from your work.

Household indebtedness, therefore, has continued to rise almost inevitably, increasing in every year since 1946 and now approaching $400 billion. It was $35.1 billion in 1946.

Further Increases
Whereas it grew from $87.9 billion in 1965 to $94.8 billion at the end of 1966, the gain in the past year will amount to only a bit more than $1 billion, a tremendous slowdown.

September of this year. Such a huge increase means a powerful momentum has been built up for even further increases.

Nevertheless, the conservative pattern of recent months has made its dent even in this powerful trend. The expansion of installment credit continued this year, but its gain was the smallest since 1961.

Recent studies, especially by the University of Michigan in September, show consumers becoming a bit more liberal in their spending attitudes but still wary of the long-range outlook.

Without a doubt, consumers are being told something by their aggregate attitude. A deep, powerful current is running through the consumer mind.

ELLENSBURG, Wash. (AP) — The subject of the speech at the opening session of a short course for cattlemen was meatless meats.

meats, made from soybean fiber, have two major drawbacks: They are more expensive than real meat and taste terrible, if not properly prepared.

Bobcats Face Rochester '6' In USHL Tilts

Green Bay Plays Saturday, Sunday Contests at Night

GREEN BAY — Having come up with two highly impressive victories in two weeks over the rugged Canadian Soo, Green Bay's Bobcats are ready to return to United States Hockey League wars this weekend.

The Bobcats will tangle Saturday and Sunday night with the Rochester Mustangs in the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena with buoyed hopes of fighting their way out of the league basement.

Coach Pete Buchmann's team has only a 1-6 record in the USHL and needs a sweep of the series to preserve its ambition for a lofty finish. Though the season is less than half over, time is already becoming a factor in the Cats' battle.

Have 4-4 Record
Rochester brings a 4-4 record into the weekend. The record includes a pair of wins over the Bobcats in the Mustangs' cozy Mayo Civic Auditorium, 6-3 and 8-3.

But Buchmann is convinced that the Bobcats' 8-3 and 7-1 victories over the formidable Soo sextet is an indication of things to come for his youth-laden squad.

Game time Saturday night is 8 p.m. and on Sunday night it is 7 p.m.

Sunday night's game will be televised by Channel 11 of Green Bay. It will be the first telecast of a Bobcat game this year. All Bobcat games, home and away, are broadcast on radio by WBAY.

As a special attraction, the Bobcats are also making Sunday "Ladies Night." Any lady accompanied by an adult man will be allowed to purchase a reserved seat at half price.

Former Bobcat Paul Johnson, now of Waterloo, continues to lead the USHL in scoring. He has accumulated 20 points on 14 goals and 6 assists in the Blackhawks nine games. Marshall Tschida of the Minnesota Nationals is second with 13 while one of the Bobcats' guests this weekend, fleet Bill Reichart of Rochester, is third with 12 points.

Domres Selected For Shrine Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tackle Tom Domres of Wisconsin was selected Wednesday on the defensive unit of the East squad which faces the West in the annual Shrine football game at Candlestick Park Dec. 30.

Several Races Decided

Pro Playoffs Taking Shape

NEW YORK (AP) — With the Green Bay Packers and Dallas Cowboys already having clinched their division titles in the National Football League, the outline of the post-season playoff schedules in pro football have begun to emerge.

Baltimore and Los Angeles still are battling for the Coastal Division championship but this race could end this weekend. It might carry over to the final game of the season, Dec. 17, when Baltimore plays at Los Angeles. The eventual survivor will play Green Bay Dec. 23 at Milwaukee.

Cleveland and St. Louis meet Sunday at St. Louis in a game that could decide the Century Division and the opponent of Dallas Dec. 24 in the Eastern Conference playoff at Dallas.

Has Two Races
The American Football League race also has two races still going. Oakland has the edge on San Diego for the Western Division title but each has three to play. New York and Houston are tied in the East with three to go.

If the race is decided at the end of the regular season Dec. 24, the AFL title game will be played Dec. 31 in the home city of the Western Division winner, Oakland or San Diego. If there is a tie, playoffs between New York and Houston the game will be at New York Dec. 31 with the championship game set back to Jan. 7.

The NFL title game will be played Dec. 31 in the home park of the Western Conference

Rams Have More to Think About Than Me: Wilson

Bays Would Rather Face Colts In Playoff, Fullback Declares

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Big Ben Wilson of the Green Bay Packers doesn't expect any special reception Saturday when he takes the field against his former teammates, the Los Angeles Rams, in a key National Football League game.

Wilson, obtained as insurance from the Rams before the season, has inherited the starting fullback job because of a knee injury that sidelined Jim Grabowski.

"They won't be thinking much about me," said Wilson, "not with the Rams facing a do or die game."

Wilson, contacted by telephone at the Packers' temporary training camp at Santa Barbara, Calif., has gained 310 yards in five games as Grabowski's replacement.

No Extra Burden

He said he felt no special pressure in preparing for the game, which could decide the Rams' fate in the race for Coastal Division honors in the Western Conference. The once-beaten Rams must win to keep alive their hopes of overtaking the unbeaten Baltimore Colts.

The Colts play the Rams in the final game of the regular season.

"It's a big game for the Rams true," Wilson said, "but it's a big game for us, too. I think most of us would rather get Baltimore in the playoff game because we feel we should never have lost to them earlier this season.

"And from a personal viewpoint, I believe it would be easier running against the Colts than against the big Rams defense."

The Packers have already wrapped up Central Division honors and will meet either the Colts or the Rams for the conference championship.

"They've got a big defensive line," said Wilson of the Rams. "It takes great pride in its work." He said the Rams' success was "mostly a case of learning how to win and now wanting it more and more."

Said Wilson: "It should be a heck of a game."

Deer Kill May Reach 130,000

MADISON (AP) — Marinette led all Wisconsin counties in the number of buck deer killed in the 1967 season the Division of Conservation reported today. The total was 3,145.

Waupaca County led in the total deer taken, 5,321, and was second to Marinette in buck killed with 3,034.

The division said its incomplete survey showed more than 127,000 deer kills were registered in the nine-day gun season and that the final figure is expected to be near the 130,000 mark.

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

All the fans who are able to jam their way into Seims Gym Friday night will see the start of what could be a classic basketball rivalry.

Appleton East, one of the three undefeated teams in the Fox River Valley Conference, will invade the court of Appleton West, producer of a top upset (against Fond du Lac) last weekend. Tip off time will be 8:15 p.m.

If the first basketball game between the crosstown rivals is anything like their initial football meeting, Friday's clash could be a corker. East's Patriots rallied, last fall, to score a 12-7 football win over West's Terrors.

AHS-E, unbeaten (as are Manitowoc and Sheboygan North) in as well as out of the conference, will strive to stake a claim as a dark-horse title contender. AHS-W will seek to continue the comeback started last Friday and try to prove predictors wrong in their assessment of the Terrors as a likely 10th-place finisher.

3 Games Billed

Since this is the first of three meetings in 1967-8, the Terrors and Patriots will see almost as much of each other as they did when they were teammates in a combined Appleton High School. They are to meet again Jan. 30 in the new East gym and will collide Feb. 24, at AHS-W, in a district tourney playoff.

On the basis of their over-all record (2-0), the Patriots must be accorded the favorites' role over the Terrors (1-2). AHS-W's home court advantage will be minimal, since the Patriots not only have played one game (against Kaukauna) in Seims gym, but spent most of their high school cage careers, previous to this season, on the Terror court.

This will be the FRVC's first double weekend of the season, and AHS-W faces probably the toughest brace of games in the circuit. After meeting unbeaten AHS-E Friday, the Terrors play host to powerful Sheboygan North Saturday night.

The Patriots will round out their weekend with a Saturday night invasion of Sheboygan South (1-1 in the conference).

Though the Bill Morse-coached Patriots have been practical-

Channel 11 to Telecast Cage, Hockey Tilts

High school basketball and professional hockey will be featured in two local telecasts by Channel 11 this weekend.

The De Pere-Algoma High School basketball game from Brown County will be telecast live at 8 p.m. Friday.

The contest will be the first regular season telecast of an area high school game.

Jim Irwin will do the play-by-play, and former Green Bay Southwest High School Basketball Coach Jerry Eckman will handle the color.

The 7 p.m. Sunday Rochester Bobcat encounter will be the first league telecast ever in the Green Bay market.

Irwin will handle the hockey play-by-play, and University of Wisconsin Hockey Coach Bob Johnson will do the color.

Injured in Game

Badgers' Walker Has Left Leg Amputated

MADISON (AP)—Mel Walker, 21, outstanding defensive safety on the University of Wisconsin 1967 football team, underwent surgery at Minneapolis Wednesday for amputation of his left leg following complications from an injury suffered in the Wisconsin-Minnesota game. The game was played Nov. 24 in Minneapolis.

UW Sports News Director Jim Mott said today Walker was reported in good spirits and that Roger French, assistant Badger football coach, was with Walker in Hennepin County General Hospital in Minneapolis.

Mott said Walker, from Institute, W. Va., was injured early in the game when he collided with a teammate while trying to knock down a Minnesota pass. Walker's left knee was injured and complications arose following surgery to repair the injury, Mott said.

Walker came to Wisconsin as a quarterback prospect. Coach John Coatta had planned to give Walker a try at offensive quarterback next spring because of the ability he showed this year, Mott added.

FVL Faces Racine Northwestern '5's This Weekend

Foxes Hope to Avenge Three Losses to Crusaders Last Year

BY MARTIN STEFFEL

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The law of averages will get a thorough test Friday night when Fox Valley Lutheran entertains the Racine Lutheran High Crusaders in a Midwest Prep Conference game.

Last season Racine won both conference games, 68-66 and 74-72. When the two clubs met in the tournament, the Crusaders blitzed the Foxes, 75-51.

Racine has had 1-3 record so far and has not played any conference games. Pat Schmidt, a 5-7 guard, head the list of four lettermen. French, a football quarterback, is an old nemesis for FVL.

Feature Fast Break

The Crusaders feature a fast-break offense and will probably use a man to man defense. The club is sure to be primed for its first league action.

Saturday night the Foxes travel to Watertown and an encounter with the Northwestern Preps. Pete Zell, a 6-1 guard, and Roger Schultz, a 5-11 scrappier, have led the Preps to a 2-1 hands of Wayland Academy will make the Preps eager to avenge the humiliation of their first league game.

An excellent JV squad should help Coach Zell considerably this year. The small floor area at NW makes the Preps a rough club to beat at home.

Foxes' Coach Gerbrd Kaneiss has everyone healthy, with the possible exception of starter John Hannemann, who suffered a foot infection. He should be ready for Friday. If he isn't, look for juniors Dick Unke or Butch Meitner to break into the starting five. Unke, a scrappy little guard, showed poise in last week's action. He moves well and is a dependable ball handler. Meitner has seen limited action in the front line.

Conditioning has been somewhat of a problem for the Foxes. They played very well against Wisconsin Lutheran last Friday before losing in the last five minutes, 61-52. However, the next night against St. John's of Little Chute, the Foxes tired badly in the last half and lost 73-35.

Wife of Ex-Packer Dies In California Hospital

SAN GABRIEL, Calif. (AP)—Funeral services will be held in nearby Whittier Friday for the wife of former Green Bay Packer player E. Roy (Link) Lyman.

Mrs. Grace (Dolly) Lyman died Tuesday in a Pasadena hospital. She was 66.

Lyman, a tackle with the original Packer team and a member of the National Football League Hall of Fame, said his wife had a heart ailment.

Trotters Nip Marinette '5'

McAllen Connects For Winning Goal In 71-70 Victory

MARINETTE — Bill McAllen hit a short jumper from the side with five seconds remaining to give the Fox Valley Center a 71-70 triumph over Marinette in a UW extension Center Conference game Wednesday.

McAllen's shot came after two quick passes. Marinette's Paul Nast missed a bonus situation on the free throw line with 10 seconds, and the Trotters' John Kudrna grabbed the rebound. He fired the ball to Tom Ehlike who in turn fed McAllen for the winning bucket.

Fox Valley trailed most of the game, once by as many as nine points in the first half. The Trotters finally caught their foe at 57-57, but then fell behind again until the final horn.

Dan Zuleger topped the winners in scoring with 18 points, and Kudrna and Ehlike contributed 17 and 15, respectively. Paul Millar paced Marinette with 16 points, all on baskets.

Games Friday: Brillion at Wrightstown, Omro at Freedom, Hilbert at Hortonville, Shiocton at Winneconne, Reedsville at Denmark.

After handing Freedom its 23rd consecutive loss in its initial league endeavor, the defending champion Winneconne Wolves take on challenging Shiocton Friday night at Winneconne in the spotlight game in the Little Nine Conference.

The remaining three teams who rang up victories in first games — Brillion, Omro and Reedsville — will all be on the road. The Lions travel to Wrightstown, Omro tests Freedom on the Irish court and the Panthers visit Denmark. First-round losers Hilbert and Hortonville are pitted against each other on the Polar Bears' floor.

Coach Ralph Larson's Winneconne club beat Freedom, 65-43, last Friday night and followed with an 81-69 bouncing of Central Wisconsin Conference foe Weyauwega the next evening for the Wolves' third straight win.

The going should be tougher this weekend, when Coach John Van Meter's Chiefs invade. After a narrow, 70-69 defeat at Bear Creek in Shiocton's first game, the Chiefs came back to show their power in routing Wrightstown, 86-60. Shiocton's dynamic duo of Gary Johnson and Dan Gast tallied 22 and 21 points, respectively, in the win.

Brillion's sharpshooting Russ Hansen had the best scoring performance of anyone in the league, firing in 26 points in the 81-71 victory over Denmark. The 6-1 junior finished second in the scoring race last season.

Crucial Finale But a win for the Rams over the Packers would leave it all up to the Baltimore at Los Angeles game on the final day of the season, Dec. 17.

Everybody talks about the Rams' defense but that offensive line-up can't be overlooked. With Les Josephson and Dick Bass running the ball; plus occasional spot duty by ex-Viking Tommy Mason, the Rams rankback has been tossed for a loss only 19 time in 12 games and he has thrown 438 passes, an average of 36 plus pass es a game . . . Baltimore's passer has been smeared only 16 times but John Unitas has thrown only 381 times.

Jurgensen's percentage of completions (59.4 on 260 of 438), his yardage, (3,378), touchdown passes, (28) and percentage of interceptions (2.7) are the best in the NFL. If any passer ever had three receivers running 1-2-3 in the league standings it is: Francis 49er, who was traded to Atlanta during the off season and then traded to the Rams, has been Roman Gabriel's favorite target.

Incidentally, Bill Munson, George Allen, coach of the Los Angeles Rams, spoke these words last August, before the National Football League season had started (and also before Kansas City's Athletics had moved to Oakland).

Allen's Rams came up to the first of two big games Saturday afternoon. If they don't beat Green Bay at the Coliseum, they can just about forget it for 1967. If the Rams lose, Baltimore can lock up the Coastal Division Sunday by beating New Orleans.

Pro Grid Notes Clint Jones and Bubba Smith, Michigan State's two big stars, Michigan State's two big stars of last year, are spear carriers in the NFL as rookies Jones has carried only 12 times for 16 yards for the Minnesota Vikings but is the big man on kickoff returns. Smith rides the bench at Baltimore because Billy Ray Smith, 32, is having a big year at defensive tackle.

George Webster, the Michigan State defense ace, is doing a great job at linebacker for the Houston's contending Oilers in the AFL.

Sonny Jurgensen must have the fastest gun in the NFL. The casual spot duty by ex-Viking Washington Redskins' quarterback Tommy Mason, the Rams rankback has been tossed for a loss

Rams' Allen Wanted Winner This Season

NEW YORK (AP) — "Our objective is to win. We're not building for the future. The only year we're concerned about is 1967. What good is it to have all young men of promise, like Kansas City's pitching staff, if you finish last?"

Aparicio Anxious to Rejoin Sox, Should Add More Range to Infield

CHICAGO (AP) — At first, little Looie couldn't believe it. "You mean I'm coming back to the White Sox?" he asked from his Maracaibo, Venezuela home.

"You bet you are," said General Manager Eddie Stanky. "You mean I'm coming back to the White Sox?" he asked from his Maracaibo, Venezuela home.

This happened recently. Short made a deal with the Baltimore Orioles that brought Luis Aparicio back to the White Sox at the age of 33.

The Sox, thus, turned back the calendar five years to bring back the one-time darling of the Comiskey Park fans.

Little Looie may not steal cities like he used to—only 18 last year—and his 233 average at bat last season doesn't look good. But Short says he is a better and stronger hitter now.

First 9 Seasons

Aparicio was White Sox property during all of his first nine seasons as a pro. He was with the Sox seven years before being dealt to the Orioles in the winter of 1963.

In 1959, when the Sox won the American League pennant, Aparicio batted .257 and stole a club record of 56 bases.

Ron Hansen, who joined the Sox in the deal that sent Aparicio to Baltimore, will shift from

Bays Won't Deviate From Set Offense, Rams' Jones Believes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Defensive end Dave Jones of the Los Angeles Rams says he doesn't believe the Green Bay Packers will depart from their usual style of play when they buck the Rams' strong defensive unit Saturday at Los Angeles.

"I really don't know how I would coach a team against our defense," said Jones in an interview. "But I do know this, I wouldn't change my whole offense for one game. I don't think Vince Lombardi will change his."

The Rams lead the National Football League in defending against the rush and their front four of Jones, ex-Detroit Lion Roger Brown, Lamar Lundy and Merlin Olson exert unbearable pressure on opposing passers.

The defensive strength suggests that the best way to advance the ball against the Rams is the short pass.

"We can adjust to stop that or any other thing," said Jones. "You know the thing a defense always tries to do is force you out of what you do best. If you switch away to short passes—if that isn't your long suit—you're just doing our job for us. We like to see it."

Requests New Hunting Plan For Horicon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall was asked Wednesday by Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Wis., to formulate a new plan for the Horicon Marsh Wildlife Refuge in Wisconsin.

Steiger also requested Udall to investigate whether means are available to aid growers in the area who sustained a high rate of crop damage during the current hunting season.

The congressman said there are too many Canada geese at Horicon marsh, in Dodge and Fond du Lac counties, and the numbers should be reduced by an increased kill or by developing new refuge areas so the geese can be dispersed to such areas.

He said the quota of 14,000 geese for hunters last year was increased to 20,000 for 1967, but a tagging system for hunters was added this year and the hunters did not want this. As a result, he said, only about 13,000 geese have been killed so far and the season has been extended to Dec. 10.

Scores Four Goals

Mikita Leads Hawks Past Pittsburgh, 7-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's Stan Mikita is giving teammate Bobby Hull a run for the money again as the Black Hawks sprint uphill in the National Hockey League race.

Mikita, the defending NHL scoring king, outgunned Hull four goals to two Wednesday night, leading the Hawks to a 7-2 romp over Pittsburgh that sent them into a fourth-place tie with New York in the East Division.

Minnesota's expansion club played Toronto to a 1-1 standoff, but the tie gave the Maple Leafs a share of the East lead with idle Boston, New York and Detroit battled to a 3-3 deadlock. Los Angeles nipped St. Louis 3-2 and Oakland topped Philadelphia 4-2 in other games.

4-Goal Game

In registering the first four-goal game of his nine-year NHL career and adding an assist on Hull's second goal of the night, Mikita climbed from 13th to fifth place in the individual scoring race.

The elusive little center won the 1966-67 title with a record-tying 97 points, but got off to a slow start this season — along with the Hawks. But, after scoring just one goal in nine games, Mikita has netted 14 in 16 starts — and Chicago has lost only twice during his hot spell.

Hull, a 52-goal scorer last season, moved into the point lead with his 20th and 21st goals, plus an assist. He has 33 points in 25 games, two more than Boston's Johnny Bucyk.

Goalies Johnny Bower of Toronto and Gary Bauman of Minnesota of the Western Conference netted up in a brilliant duel on the North Stars' ice. The home club outshot the Leafs 30-18 but both goaltenders came up

East-West 5's Clash Friday For First Time

ly homeless (they practice in any gym that happens to be available) they've started off impressively with a pair of double-figure wins. AHS - E beat Kaukauna, 64-48, in a non-conference game, and stopped Oshkosh, 59-49, in the FRVC opener.

The Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors, with only one letterman (compared to the Patriots' three) didn't appear likely to pose any major problem for East on the basis of their first two games and the first nine minutes of the Fond du Lac game. Suddenly, last Friday, everything seemed to fall into place — offensively, as well as defensively — and AHS-W outclassed previously-unbeaten Fondy the rest of the way for a 53-40 victory.

If the Terrors can retain this momentum, Friday's game could go either way. The teams will likely look to Tom Jones and Tom Hintz for much of their scoring success. The stellar forecourters, who were regular on last season's Appleton state tourney team, have two of the top four scoring averages in the FRVC. East's Jones fired in 21 points during his only league appearance and is averaging 20.5 for the season. West's Hintz owns a 19.5 league average and has a 19.0 mark over-all.

East letterman Rich Stach, last Friday, showed the same flair for sinking clutch baskets as he did in last season's tourney upset of Neenah. He has scored 31 points (15.5 average).

The Terrors, last Friday, came up with important scoring help for Hintz in Carl Hunt (14 points) and Ade Dillon (10).

East's Gary Bleier and Blane Reichelt each scored 10 against OHS.

West's probable starters will be Hintz, Hunt, Dillon, Mark Schroeder and Mark Catlin. For East, letterman Bob Meyer will likely start, alongside Stach, Jones, Reichelt and Bleier.

Meets Fondy
Sheboygan North (2-0 in the FRVC and 4-0, over-all) plays host to Fond du Lac (Friday) before invading AHS-W. The Raiders' experienced array of cagers is headed by 6-foot-1 Pat Matzdorf, who is averaging 27 points for each of two league games.

The 5-10 Rich Peterson is averaging 13.5 for North, while 6-4 Mark Hildebrand has an 11-5 pace. The 6-2 Rob Wondergem and 5-9 Bill Pragatz round out the probable starting lineup.

South's Redmen, who face AHS-E Saturday, have a 1-2 record to date. South's potential is indicated by its win over Green Bay Southwest, which, last weekend, tripped defending co-champion Green Bay West.

The Redmen are led by 6-3 Charles Simon, who is averaging 17 points in FRVC play, and Charley Komert, with a 16.2 average. The 6-1 Tom Ashworth, another letterman, tallied 11 points against North last weekend.

Manitowoc's Pete Hansen has the only FRVC average higher than Matzdorf's to date — a 27.5 pace. Fondy's Terry Bestor has the top total — 57 points — but he has played in three games.

Southwest (1-1 in league play) will try to duplicate its upset of GBW when it plays host to Manitowoc Friday. The Trojans, coached by former Lawrence cager Steve Nault, beat the Wildcats, 45-40, with a 1-2-2 zone defense.

Keyes 'O. J.' Capture Titles In Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Leroy Keyes of Purdue led major-college football players in scoring during the 1967 season and O.J. Simpson of Southern California led in rushing, according to statistics released today by the NCAA.

Keyes scored 19 touchdowns for 114 points, 18 more than his two closest pursuers, Roland Moss of Toledo and Dave Dick-ey of Arkansas. Simpson gained 1,415 yards rushing on 266 carries. Eugene Morris of West Texas State was second with 1,274 yards and Max Anderson of Arizona State was third with 1,188 yards.

Keyes and Simpson were also one-two in all-purpose running, which includes yards gained rushing, on pass receptions and on punt, kickoff and interception returns. Keyes totaled 1,870 yards and Simpson had 1,700 yards.

The Law and You

Homeowner Not Necessarily Liable for Mishap on Property

Although a homeowner has certain responsibilities for the safety of a guest, he isn't necessarily liable for every accident that may occur to a visitor on his premises. In a recent case before the Wisconsin Supreme Court, the facts were these:

A woman stopped to visit a friend at his house. She had parked her car in the driveway and walked over a flagstone walk onto a patio at the rear of the house. After visiting a few minutes, the owner suggested that the visitor go with him to the garden to see his currant bushes. He walked ahead of the visitor, then turned off the patio towards his garden. As the visitor turned off the patio, she tripped on a 5" high metal shoe scraper set in the edge of the patio and fell to the ground, sustaining a fractured hip. The visitor sued for substantial damages, claiming the shoe scraper was (1) a trap and (2) that placing it on the patio was active negligence.

The court held that the scraper was not a trap, for it was open and observable, with no grass to obscure its presence. Had she looked she would have seen the scraper. She was not looking at the ground or at her feet, but at her host.

In legal terms, a "trap" arises when an owner fails to disclose to a social guest a known, but concealed danger. Here the scraper was not a trap since the device was open and observable and in no way constituted a concealed hazard.

Likewise, the Court said the defendant homeowner was not guilty of active negligence in placing the footscraper on the patio 10 years before, but merely of an act creating a condition of the premises.

The result, then, is that a visitor has a duty to look where he steps, just as the owner has a duty to point out concealed or dangerous traps.

Many homeowners insure against possible liability to visitors on their premises by carrying a separate policy or as part of a homeowner's policy. Frequently these policies also include a "medical pay" clause, under which the insurer will pay all medical bills to persons injured on the premises up to a specified limit regardless of whether the owner is liable or not.

Former Packer Center Succumbs in Michigan

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP) — Services will be held in Menominee Friday for Walter A. Niemann, 73-year-old inventor and former player with the Green Bay Packers.

Niemann, of nearby Powers, died Tuesday night.

He spent years in the automobile business as a sales representative in Detroit and was best known for his invention of the orbital engine, a rotary type engine without pistons.

He is survived by his widow and two sons.

Marion at 'Wega

I-S Quintet Will Duel Wittenberg

CENTRAL WIS. CONFERENCE

Manawa	1	2	42.0	62.3
Amherst	0	2	41.5	70.0
Weyauwega	0	2	40.5	75.5

With co-second place holders Marion and Waupaca already counted among its victims, Iola-Scandinavia's basketball team is sitting pretty this week as the lone remaining unbeaten squad in Central Wisconsin Conference play.

Coach Brian Zordel's quintet, expected to capture the league crown in a pre-season poll, has run true to form so far with three successive victories behind Chuck Koehler and guard Wayne Skowen.

Koehler, a 6-0 senior, is currently the loop's best scorer with 69 points for a 23.0 average, while teammate Skowen, just 5-9, is second with 62 points.

The twin scoring whizzes will be in action Friday night, when the Thunderbirds invade Wittenberg to take on the Wildcats. Other league contests find Amherst at Waupaca and Marion at Weyauwega. Manawa will play host to Wild Rose, of the Central C Conference.

I-S got over a big hurdle in its quest for the CW championship last week by downing defending champion Waupaca, 64-53, on the T-Birds' hardwood. Koehler hit for 26 and Skowen 14 points in that one, but the pair may have trouble in the confines of the tiny Wittenberg gym.

Marion and Waupaca, meantime, will be striving to stay in the thick of the pack of victories. The Mustangs, hit by a flu bug during the week, face a win-hungry Weyauwega "five" in the Indians' backyard. The Comets should have little trouble in handling Amherst, which has failed to win in five starts.

Manawa comes off a 73-50 win over the Falcons, and is now 2-3 for the year. The Wolves will send the league's fourth and seventh-leading scorers in Randy Hass and Doug Langman against Wild Rose.

Humor Still Bright In Old Kelly Comedy

Veteran Helen Hayes Sparkles in Revival of Lampooning 'Show-Off'

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP) — A veteran star, Helen Hayes, generates bright new delight in a long-neglected hit, "The Show-Off" which was revived Tuesday night at the Lyceum theater.

George Kelly's comedy of a braggart foiled (maybe) hasn't been on Broadway's stage since 1925 although Spencer Tracy and Red Skelton both had notable screen flings in the old-fashioned lampoon.

Enjoys Role

Her portrayal in the exhibit, the second in this season's display by the Association of Producing Artists, is engrossing, hilarious, sharp and tender. It's been a good many years since she has had such comic opportunity.

Quite obviously she savors every moment, from frantically racing to hide her box of chocolates to a tartly droll "Lord help me now" as the curtain descends on her knitting and still-heckle household.

The story, neatly contrived and old-fashioned corny if you will, concerns the chaos which a rattlebrained but ultimately wily son-in-law inflicts upon a poor but honest clan back in the third decade of this 20th century.

Well-Written Play

Kelly (an uncle, incidentally of Princess Grace) wrote with such verve and understanding, however, that the humor is still bright and the situation steadily pleasing despite predictability.

With the principal duo are Gwyda Donhowe and Pamela Payton-Wright, as daughters of varied distress; George Pentecost, the inventive son, who brings fortune to the family in the nick of time; and Joseph Bird, paternal irascibility in person.

Stephen Porter's direction and James Tilton's setting skillfully project the mood and looks of those days when hearts were younger and maybe gayer.

"The Show-Off" is a must for any Broadway visitor.

Critics All Happy

What other press critics said: Clive Barnes, New York Times: "... This is unquestionably the best American play seen on Broadway for some seasons and the A.P.A. company gives it with exquisitely judged style."

John Chapman, Daily News: "This was a beautiful performance of a beautiful play which has not lost one whit of its human insight, profound humor and masterly theatrical skill with the passing of all those years ... hurrah for everybody."

'Gentle Giant' Wins Acclaim at Indian Children's Festival

Paramount Pictures' "Gentle Giant," currently playing at The Appleton Theater, has been acclaimed by the Second Tehran International Festival of Films for Children in India. The executive secretary of the festival, Hagir Daryouche, called the picture a "precious contribution to the success of this cultural manifestation in achieving its highest artistic standards."

Daryouche reported to Producer Ivan Tors that "Gentle Giant" was highly received during the special screening for children, as well as in official festival performances attended by the delegates of the participating countries, critics, educators and the general public.

"Gentle Giant" stars Dennis Weaver, Vera Miles and Ralph Meeker. It is a poignant story of the friendship between a youngster and a giant black bear.

Bert Lahr, who died Monday at 72, was perhaps best known for his role as the cowardly lion in the 1939 motion picture classic, "The Wizard of Oz." In this scene from the movie his cowardly tears are dried by Judy Garland, who played her unforgettable role of Dorothy, the little girl from Kansas whirled off to the magical land by a tornadic wind. ## Phony Cops Exposed on 'Dragnet'

8:30-9 (Channel 5) — Dragnet 1968 has a look at a racket that could even trap the wary. Some people are going around claiming to be policemen who sell ads in a magazine which benefits widows and orphans of men killed on duty. In addition to the charitable angle, donors are given NALE Cards (National Association for Law Enforcement). But no such organization exists. (C)

6:30-7 (Channels 11-9) — It takes some Anti-Lethal Fog Spray, an African Death Bee Antidote Pill and the words Doori Shoja Thacke to get Batman, Robin and Batgirl out of their goofy problems as the London caper finally ends. (C)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 5) — Ed Ames makes his first appearance on Daniel Boone in several weeks, in a good episode that brings him in direct conflict with Fess Parker. Ames, as Mingo, becomes temporary chief of the Cherokees, after an unseen Indian hater has shot the Chief. (C)

6:30-8 (Channels 2-7) — There's a possibility that the role of "Nobody," played by Warren Oates on Cimarron Strip may become a recurring character. It's the kind of part he plays exceptionally well, the loud-mouthed rowdy who is totally likable and underneath, quite pathetic. (C)

7-7:30 (Channels 11-9) — It was inevitable that The Flying Nun would be caught in a storm while on one of her flights. That's what happens here, and her wet corset plummets her to earth. (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-9) — Endora decides Darren can't possibly be faithful on Bewitched, so she fixes it so that his ears grow a bit every time he lies.

And wouldn't you know he's trying to buy a surprise for his wife, and lies a lot to cover up? (C)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 5) — Ironside is concerned with a 17-year-old case, which he solves nicely, but which makes you wonder why no one thought of the gimmick that provides the solution in the first place. There's a change of scenery here, as Raymond Burr goes to New York. (C)

8-8:30 (Channels 11-9) — Gary Marshal turns in a nice performance as an English photographer with a persuasive way in the first of a two-part on That Girl. (C)

Playhouse Drama Series

'Dear Friends' Special Soul-Searching Success

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In "Dear Friends" Wednesday night, playwright Reginald Rose had some adult, incisive observations about people and marriage. As one of the CBS "Playhouse" series it glittered with excellent performances by an able cast.

For part of the same period Jack Paar on NBC was presiding over an extremely funny, ingenious hour consisting primarily of photogenic mishaps.

The conflict between two superior programs in very different moods was in deed unfortunate.

Troubled Couples

"Dear Friends," a two-hour program, centered on a gathering of four married couples, close friends for years, who were ostensibly gathering to try to bring together one pair who had decided to separate.

At the beginning, it appeared that three couples had fine, substantial marriages, but as the liquor flowed and the talk became more emotional and frank, the slim facades crumbled.

Rose told the real stories behind the masks by using a flashback method. He started with the separated couple, played with dignity by Hope Lange and James Daly. Their problem after 15 years of marriage and two children, was quite simply that, as the husband put it, "we don't interest each other any more, we're too ... familiar, I guess."

Their friends, while still together, had much worse problems.

8:15 p.m. Flim Flam Man at 6 p.m. and 10:15.

Vaudeville Theater, Kaukauna — Starts Friday Valley of Mystery at 7 p.m. El Dorado at 8:30.

Time Theater, Oshkosh — The Greatest Story Ever Told at 8 p.m.

Raulf Theater, Oshkosh — The Gentle Giant at 6:45 and 10:20. The Long Duel, once at 8:20.

String Quartet Concert — American Arts String Quartet, 8:15 p.m., Music-Drama Room, UW-Green Bay Center.

One wife was insanely jealous of her husband—and with good reason, it turned out. Another couple was concealing, ashamed, the fact that they just didn't want children, and preferred to have the world think they could not have them. A third marriage was a sham because the wife had once been faithless and her husband knew it.

Pennell Roberts and Rosemary Harris were fine as the poorish philandering husband and his tense wife. David Wayne and Anne Jackson played the childless couple convincingly. Eli Wallace and Patricia Barry were outstanding as the husband whose betrayal still rankled and his troubled wife.

The stripping away of pretense and facing some truths seemed to have a healing effect. At the end there seemed to be some hope for the future of all four couples. It made interesting viewing.

American Memorial Imposing Structure

BY MARY WALTER

MANILA — It was a national hero's day in the Philippines here last week so Gov. Warren Knowles took part in the ceremonies by laying wreaths at three different historic places.

He was accompanied by about 20 members of the Wisconsin Trade Mission, but especially assisted by Navy Capt. A. William Evans, Green Bay. The group was met by units of the Philippine Navy at the first monument and Knowles and Evans accompanied their Philippine hosts to the basel of the monument. Evans, now assistant to the President of Fort Howard Paper, is a veteran of World War II and Korea and has a mobilization billet as assistant chief of staff of the United States First Fleet.

The Manila American Cemetery and Memorial once again emphasizes that the war has not been forgotten here as it seems to have been in most of the United States. Almost 18,000 Americans and Philippine scouts who died in the South Pacific conflicts are buried here with the rows and rows of white crosses, sprinkled now and then with a Star of David, a remembrance of those days.

But even more indicative of the kind of war it was are the names inscribed on the massive white marble walls of the monument. More than 36,000 were missing in action in the South Pacific. "Here are recorded the names of Americans who gave their lives in the service of their country and who sleep in unknown graves—1941-1945," the inscription reads. The seals of 48 states and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii are set into the floors. And along the frieze are listed the names of the major naval battles.

Sixty Foot Tower
The chapel is a 60-foot tower with sculpture in relief on one side symbolizing the American struggle against a dragon in the jungle and a child to portray the future. Inside, the walls are in mosaic, mostly blue and white. The same mosaic is used for the 25 large maps which describe the course of the war in the South Pacific.

It is a magnificent memorial and some of the inscriptions are particularly poignant today when we are involved in another bitter war "Comrades in arms whose earthly resting place is known only to God. Let us here highly resolve that the cause for which they died shall live."

The Philippine national hero's day on Nov. 30th is part of a national campaign to give the Filipino an identity, a pride in himself and his history, and a true feeling of independence which he sorely needs after almost four hundred years of colonial control. Andres Bonifacio, who was especially honored in November, led an abortive revolt against the Spanish 104 years ago.

It is highly promoted in Manila as the first revolt in Asia against the Western oppressors and pictured as giving the impetus to the uprising in 1898 which was quelled by the Americans after the Spaniards were

Court Grants Two Divorces, One Annulment

Two women were granted divorces and a man was granted an annulment this week in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Jimmie A. King, 21, 914 W. Franklin St., was granted an annulment from Patricia King, 24, who now lives in South Carolina. They were married March 27, 1965, and had no children. A property settlement was approved.

Chester J. Lewis, 46, 806 N. Meade St., was divorced by Lucille Lewis, 39, 1014 N. Drew St., on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married July 27, 1953, and had two children. Lewis is to pay $20 per week support.

Helene Stecker, 40, Providence, R.I., was granted a divorce from Gilbert Stecker, 36, 812 W. Spring St., on a counterclaim. They were married Dec. 1, 1953 and had one child. Stecker is to pay $45 per week support and $15 per week alimony.

sent on their way. As far as most Philippine newspapers are concerned, there was little to choose between Spanish and American oppressors.

The freedom of newspaper expression in Manila differs considerably from that in other countries we have visited with the exception of Japan. In Taiwan, newspaper publishers insist there is no censorship, but concede that the press must be "responsible."

In Hong Kong, the government recently closed down two newspapers it claimed were Communist and a law enacted after the troubles this year gives full authority to officials to restrain just about anything that could be interpreted as inflammatory. The British, of course, do use the authority with restraint. There is no real freedom of the press in Thailand and the proposed new constitution has already been revised with a freedom of the press clause eliminated.

But in the Philippines the newspapers flagrantly berate the government, charge the ruling party with dishonesty, police abuse, and stupidity.

No President Re-elected
No president of the Philippine Republic has been elected to a second term and the vehement newspaper antagonism has often been cited as the reason. But in the off-year elections just completed, the President's National party won at least 75 per cent, not only of the seats in the senate, but of local and provincial positions as well.

To the American who knows that of Western culture and tradition, press freedom comes before press responsibility or regardless of it. It will be interesting to find out whether that holds true for Asia where so much corruption still exists and where in so many areas, there is no press freedom at all.

Liberty is a dangerous way of life. The Filipinos have a tremendous chance to demonstrate that they can maintain it successfully. So far the aspects do not look encouraging. But the Philippines was a war ravaged country as well as one trying to jump several generations to get into the second half of the twentieth century.

Landmark Razed at High Cliff

SHERWOOD — A High Cliff landmark, a former tavern which recently served as the park manager's office at High Cliff State Park's upper level, was razed this week by Earl Ecker, Stockbridge.

The structure, which originally had a dance hall and palm garden, was the focal point of the area when it was a privately owned amusement park.

The area will be landscaped in preparation for the dedication of the new shelter building, the date for which has not been announced.

Park manager Jon Warren, now occupies the former Eugene Harp home on Lake Winnebago at the lower park level, which was recently purchased by the state. The residence previously used by the park manager has been changed into an office and maintenance shop.

Opposes UW, Stevens Point Wish CCHE Told Full-Fledged Forestry Program Not Needed in Wisconsin

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The state does not need a full-fledged forestry program at the University of Wisconsin or at Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point, the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education has been told by one of its chief staff assistants.

Gale Kelley, associate director of the CCHE staff, recommended in a report filed with the CCHE plans and policies subcommittee, that the state agency refuse to create the programs which have been suggested by the two schools.

The state does not indicate a future need for more trained foresters than can be supplied by existing out-of-state schools, Kelley's report indicates. Any national need in the future will be directed primarily at improving the quality of future foresters, more than in increasing quantity, he said.

No Adequate Support
And neither the UW nor the Stevens Point proponents had adequately supported their arguments with facts, he indicated.

Kelly made his report after a special advisory committee to the CCHE on forestry education and needs of the state refused to adopt a final position and report following almost one and a half years of work.

Kelly served as staff assistant for the study, conducted the research work, and submitted the report without a formal advisory committee position to the plans and policies subcommittee of the CCHE.

Four of the 11 members of the advisory committee are representatives of the two systems which have made the forestry program proposals. The remaining members are representatives of commercial enterprises associated with forestry needs, forestry organizations, and state and federal governments.

Kelly told the subcommittee the advisory unit could not determine a final position because of a wide divergence of views as to the needs for and aims of such proposed programs.

In Conflict
Initially the proposals of the two schools were somewhat in conflict, but as the study was conducted, the two systems supported each other positions against outside criticisms, in the view of some observers.

Kelly said that he found it difficult to understand the UW argument that a formalized forestry program is necessary to lure students into graduate programs in the field, which are already offered.

The UW had estimated that by using existing undergraduate courses it could create a major in the field for undergraduates by spending only $20,000 on the creation of three additional courses.

The students would seem to be already present, Kelly suggested.

The Stevens Point proposal, which also would have relied on a number of existing courses, also is doubtful, Kelly said. It probably could not reach quality levels without a counterpart graduate program and research opportunities, he argued.

Essential
UW officials also argued that few graduates of any undergraduate major actually enter the field of work for which they have been formally trained. The learning opportunities of a formal forestry program are essential to the campus, they suggested.

"Essentially we have to get

Your Money's Worth Many Ways We Can Protect the Dollar

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"Do something! That's what we hear over and over again from foreign central bankers who are looking to us to prove that we can get our finances under control when we set out to them. They are demanding something more from the U.S. than just talk about the strength of the dollar and we have to give it to them."

With these words, a Federal Reserve official last week summarized the skeptical attitude of even friendly foreign governments toward the U.S. dollar since the British devalued the pound Nov. 18 — and small wonder.

During all but one of the past 17 years, we have been spending more abroad than we have been earning abroad, and as a result, our foreign creditors have built up immense claims in dollars against our gold stock. As of today, the potential claims on our $12 billion-plus of gold amount to $28 billion. Despite our stern pledge two years ago to dry up the dollar flood, this year we will run another deficit in our balance of payments of $2.5-$3 billion. Vietnam spending, our tourist spree, big U.S. investments abroad, foreign economic and military aid — all spell red ink in our international financial accounts.

Things We Can Do
Can we "do something?" Of course! We will surely act soon to eliminate the 25 per cent gold reserve requirement for Federal Reserve notes so that our entire gold stock is available to meet foreign demands. That's a technicality, though. The significant point is that we have an arsenal of weapons with which we can dramatically change the situation, if we have the courage to use them. Specifically:

(1) Slashes in federal government spending and increases in off the purely professional kick that seems to underline this report," said Robert Clodius, UW vice president for academic affairs.

The subcommittee postponed any action on the report until March, following protests by system representatives on the CCHE that they could not vote on the recommendations without consulting their administrations.

federal income taxes. These would help balance the federal domestic budget, cool the economy and restrain the price-wage upward. As a result, our competitive position in world trade markets would be maintained, our exports would be spurred and consumer demands for imports would be dampened. The one great balance of payments "plus" we have going for us is our surplus of merchandise exports over imports. This we must preserve and enhance or we really will be out of control.

Interest Rates

(2) High and even higher interest rates. These also will help cool the economy and in addition, will keep funds from flowing out of the U.S. to other financial centers in search of richer interest returns.

(3) Stiffer restrictions on U.S. investments abroad. While these investments are under some curbs now, the fact is that every dollar U.S. corporations send abroad is a potential claim on U.S. gold, and France's De Gaulle has said publicly he'll exercise the claim. Business dollar outflows represent a major leak.

(4) New, direct incentives to exports. Our tax laws could be adjusted to provide these.

Restraint on Tourism

(5) Much stronger emphasis on U.S. travel at home and on restraint of tourism. While the outcry against any curb on tourism would be deafening, the fact is that U.S. tourists abroad this year alone will spend almost $2 billion more than foreign tourists here.

(6) Sharp reductions in spending for U.S. soldiers and their dependents in areas where the presence of our armed forces is hardly vital to U.S. security now.

This is only a partial list but it is broad and varied enough to underline the power of the weapons in our arsenal if — and the key word is indeed if — we choose to use them.

None of these moves would be easy to make. All arouse violent opposition.

But it's coming down to a question of priorities. To protect the dollar, we must "do something!"

Tomorrow: De Gaulle and gold.

The Chief Surgeon in an attempt to transplant the heart of a dead baby into the breast of another, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz talks of the operation, which failed Wednesday at a Brooklyn hospital. (AP Wirephoto)

Heart Stops Suddenly, Child Dies in Brooklyn

BY BRIAN SULLIVAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Four grim men pushed their way into the small, crowded auditorium in the basement of Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn. They had been up all night.

"I think, first of all, I'm sorry to have to report to you that we have bad news, not good news."

The speaker, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, 49, disclosed Wednesday that his 22-man medical team had failed in the second attempt in four days to transplant a human heart. The transplant of the healthy heart of a dead two-day old boy into the breast of a 2½-week-old boy was completed but the child died 6½ hours later.

Quite Unexpected

"Really, it was quite unexpected," Dr. Kantrowitz said. The boy was doing "reasonably well," he said, but then the heart "stopped suddenly."

"We do not know at this time why this transplanted heart failed," he said.

Dr. Kantrowitz described the attempt as "unequivocally, a failure but said he and his team are planning to try such transplants again.

He insisted the attempted transplant had no connection with the South African operation four days ago in which the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an automobile accident was successfully transplanted into a 55-year-old grocer.

Preparations for the Brooklyn operation started a week before the South African transplant, Dr. Kantrowitz said. Officials at Maimonides sent telegrams to 500 American hospitals seeking a suitable donor.

The older boy had already been born at the hospital but he had a defective valve on the right side of his heart which could not be operated upon. Then, Monday, the younger child was born in Philadelphia with brain damage that would kill him in two or three days.

With the consent of his parents, the newborn was rushed to Brooklyn. When he died the medical team began the 2½ hour operation. The drama ended at 1 p.m. with the older child's death.

About a year ago, Dr. Kantrowitz told the news conference, the team of surgeons had a similar situation: One child with a lethal heart lesion and another with a lethal brain lesion. They were about to try the heart transplant, he said, until they decided "the heart of the donor did not appear to be good enough to support" the other infant.

Dr. Kantrowitz is a recognized leader in bio-electronics, the use of electronic systems to replace impaired physiological functions. He was an early developer of the cardiac Pacemaker, used to stimulate heart action.

Two Heart Transplants

Doctors Wonder Why One Can Live, Other Must Die

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

In a South African hospital bed this week, a 55-year-old grocer lived with the heart of a young woman beating in his breast. He hoped this strange heart would fool his body into believing it was his own.

Louis Washkansky existed with what can be described as a benevolent but vital infection. On this pivot his life turned.

His heart was that of 25-year-old Denise Ann Darvall, struck by an automobile and fatally injured.

Her heart was well, but she was dead. The heart of Washkansky was dying, but the rest of his body was well. Doctors in a five-hour operation transplanted her heart into Washkansky's body.

Attempted Operation

Three days later, on Wednesday, doctors attempted the operation at Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn, transplanting the heart from a dead baby into the breast of a 2½-week-old boy. The patient lived only 6½ hours.

"We do not know at this time why this transplanted heart failed," said Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the chief surgeon.

Asked if he and his medical team are going to try again, he said: "We certainly are."

Despite the infant's death, the fact remains that in the case of Washkansky, 20th century medicine has brought mankind to this point. A transplant has been effected, and the patient lies in a Cape Town bed hoping his body will not recognize that his new heart is a foreign organ.

Human bodies are not easy to fool.

Washkansky's body has spent 55 years, from the time it was a microscopic union of two cells, learning what was its own, and what was not. To this genetic understanding, it owed its survival. As it was beset by virus and bacteria, or even such small things as wooden splinters, it dealt with them on one basis: They did not belong; they must be disposed of.

The body is a complex system with many weapons for self-defense. It produces antibodies—tiny, carefully designed bits of protein that can pursue and capture and neutralize the protein-coated viruses that threaten health. It produces certain

Students Riot In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A riotous three-hour demonstration, mobilized by a small band of white and Negro students, closed down San Francisco State College's 18,000-student campus Wednesday.

The students first broke into the locked administration building by shattering its glass front doors. Two hours later classes were cancelled.

Roving band of nonstudent Negroes, invited by the Black Students Union to support the demonstration, invaded the campus cafeteria and the book store.

Several student eye witnesses said the intruders grabbed up food and silver in the cafeteria. Other students declared the book store was looted of cigarettes, books, and brief cases. Several news and television cameramen were kicked and beaten by the roving groups.

U.S. Admits Contact Try By Viet Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department acknowledges an apparent Viet Cong attempt to contact the U.S. mission in Saigon. At the same time U.S. sources say privately the Viet Cong have been in recent touch with the U.N. secretariat in New York City.

Robert J. McCloskey, department press officer, said Tuesday that Prime Minister Nguyen Van Loc of South Vietnam has informed Washington the Viet Cong representative arrested in Saigon last week was attempting to reach the U.S. Embassy.

Department officials have said privately the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) approached the U.N. Secretariat last October, apparently to ask for a U.N. hearing.

No Contact Made

McCloskey said the only reason he made any statement on the Saigon incident was to clarify what he called misleading stories quoting Loc as saying the Viet Cong had already made preliminary contact with the embassy.

No information was released. Turn to Page 12, Col. 8

The Most Rev. William O'Connor, retired bishop of the Diocese of Madison, gives one of the five final absolutions, which concluded the funeral services for the Most Rev. Stanislaus Bona, bishop of the Green Bay Diocese, who died Friday. The other absolutions were given by four other bishops of the state.

Services for Bishop Bona

'We Give Him Back to God'

BY MALIA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — "A bishop's life is a source of concerns, plans and projects, failures and successes, and human efforts that seem wasted. And it is dedicated to the glory of God."

With these words a man who had been a friend, a servant, a priest and a leader to 316,000 Catholics in the Green Bay Catholic Diocese for 22 years, was laid to eternal rest Wednesday.

The Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, who died at 11 p.m. Friday, one hour from the 23rd anniversary of his appointment as bishop, had lain in state for three days at St. Francis Xavier Cathedral in Green Bay.

Thousands of his people, Catholics and non-Catholics, came to pay their last respects to the seventh bishop of the diocese.

Many knew him, others only knew of him and his work. But a loss has a way of pulling people together and in the final count, no one could even estimate the number that passed through the cathedral doors.

Honoring him for his work, too, were the prelates of the American Roman Catholic hierarchy, led by John Cardinal Cody, archbishop of Chicago.

But it was with his family of religious, many of whom he himself had ordained before the altar of the church where he now lay, that he spent his last hour.

Robed in black cassocks and white surplices, the more than 300 priests of the diocese filled the large cathedral to the final row.

Dotted with the white robes of the Norbertines, the dark brown garb of the Capuchins and the black garments of the sisters of the various convents that served under the guidance of Bishop Bona, the group made a striking contrast with the deep purple and red of the celebrants of the requiem mass.

Amid the incense which filled the cathedral during the five absolutions, rose the beautiful and joyful requiem mass, performed by the priests' choir, under the direction of the Rev. Richard Kleiber, for the first time in English.

This, too, was a compliment to the man who, despite his 78 years, was receptive to the new ideas in the church.

"His priests knew he had their interests at heart. He showed this by his many travels to be with his people whenever and wherever he could," said the Most Rev. John Grellinger, acting administrator of the diocese, who brought the sermon.

This, too, was fitting because this was the man who had worked with Bishop Bona for close to two decades.

"His priests realized his charity. When the Priests' Association was formed, the first resolution adopted was commending the bishop for his service to the diocese."

"When asked to respond with the simple 'aye' to the question of the resolution, their response was thundering.

"We loved him," the new administrator said.

In his eulogy, Bishop Grellinger briefly outlined the life of the man who had served God for more than half a century.

"His reverence for the priesthood was not something he learned. It was inbred in a family, and enriched by deep faith," said the acting bishop.

"Now we give him back to God. And we, the recipients of the many blessings of his life, are most thankful for his long years of devoted service," he said.

"Well done, thou good and faithful servant. May you rest in peace."

Now he lies next to Bishop Paul Rhode, the man he succeeded nearly 23 years ago, in the Allouez Cemetery.

Together, they held the highest office in the diocese for more than half of this century.

"To the glory of Your name all is done," was Bishop Bona's own motto, a fitting description for a faithful man of God.

Council Due To Meet This Month

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — The United States is expected to call for a meeting of the U.N. Security Council soon to launch new attempts toward a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war, informed sources said today.

The sources predicted U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg would relay a request from the White House for a meeting of the 15-nation council some time this month.

A U.S. informant said he assumed that "my boss might come back from Washington with some further information on the timing of the council session."

Goldberg spent Wednesday in Washington for a Cabinet meeting, and it was generally believed that he discussed the Senate resolution adopted last week asking President Johnson to put the war before the United Nations.

Action Delayed

There was speculation that further U.S. action may have been delayed by differences which have arisen with Saigon over participation of the Communist Viet Cong in any council debate on Vietnam.

The split came into the open after it was learned that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front had expressed a desire in October to send representatives to the United Nations.

A State Department spokesman referred inquiring newsmen to Goldberg's statement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Nov. 2. Goldberg said the United States would vote in favor of the Viet Cong participating in a council meeting on the war.

Ambassador Nguyen Huu-Chi, South Vietnam's observer at the United Nations, called on Secretary-General U Thant when he heard of the Viet Cong approach and asserted that his government would object to a "propaganda" visit here by the Viet Cong.

'International Schemes'

The South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said earlier that Saigon would "refuse to accept the presence of the National Liberation Front as a separate delegation in any peace talk." Saigon said the Viet Cong was a creation of the Hanoi government and the United Nations should "forbid the Communists the use of its tribute for such purposes as the propagation of their international schemes."

The Soviet Union, which in 1966 opposed a U.S. resolution before the Security Council seeking a new Geneva conference on Vietnam, remained adamantly opposed to bringing the war before the United Nations.

"Our position is very clear," a Soviet source said. "We are against any discussion of this problem within the framework of the United Nations."

East European diplomats privately expressed belief that a council session on Vietnam would bear fruit only if the United States took some step which the other side could interpret as a show of sincerity. They felt a cessation of the bombing would be sufficient.

Assembly Blocks Passage

Beer Age, Patrol Bills Deadlocked

MADISON (AP) — Two major highway safety bills—an increased minimum beer age and a beefed up Wisconsin Highway Patrol—appeared destined for conference committees today.

A legislative deadlock developed on the two key measures Wednesday when the Assembly refused to accept Senate amendments to the proposals.

The Assembly voted 61-36 not to go along with the Senate's plan for a beer age at 19 with communities having local option to require age 21 for drinking.

The lower house earlier approved the 19 year age, but knocked out local option.

The uniformity provision would put the state in the business of licensing beer bars in areas where local governments refuse to license.

Compromise Committee

If the Senate refuses to back down, a compromise committee would be created in an attempt to reach a compromise.

After it rejected the Senate's amendment on the beer bill, the Assembly turned down a Senate amendment calling for a 100-man boost in the 300-man Wisconsin Highway Patrol.

The lower house voted to stand behind its proposal for a 55-man increase.

Goldberg About to Resign?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is considering resigning soon from his post as top U.S. representative at the United Nations.

Goldberg has discussed his resignation with President Johnson and it is understood that Johnson is agreeable to his desires.

But Goldberg has not submitted his resignation formally, according to information available here, and no time has been set by him and the President for him to leave his post.

Goldberg, 59, has been Johnson's ambassador to the world organization since July 1965. He has told friends he does not consider himself a career public official and is understood to have been interested in returning to the private practice of law, probably in New York.

However, there has also been speculation he might be returned to the Supreme Court by the President when a vacancy develops there.

Goldberg left the high court at the President's request to take the U.N. assignment following the death of Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

Simple Farewell for Bona

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The Roman Catholic Diocese of Green Bay paid its last respects Wednesday afternoon to Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, its spiritual and administrative leader for nearly 23 years.

Except for the attendance of an imposing portion of the Catholic Hierarchy of the United States, it was a simple farewell to a simple, sincere and kindly man.

An archbishop, two bishops and four monsignors concelebrated the afternoon funeral mass in St. Francis Xavier Cathedral in the presence of a cardinal, another archbishop and nearly a score of bishops, but in essence the service differed little from a low mass celebrated any Sunday in any parish church of the diocese.

Other than the plain, closed coffin flanked by tall candles at the foot of the sanctuary steps and a photograph of Bishop Bona with a few floral pieces in the cathedral vestibule there was little evidence that this was an occasion of requiem. Or perhaps it was a highly appropriate "requiem" in the Latin meaning of the word as a moment of "rest" rather than of grief.

Simple Dignity
In contrast to early gathering darkness and drizzling rain outside, the interior of the church was brilliant with light, emphasizing the vivid red robe of John Cardinal Cody, Archbishop of Chicago, and the reds, whites and blacks worn by the other clergy. There were no banks of floral tributes, black draperies or funeral vestments.

The simple dignity of the service and the quiet personality of Bishop Bona were emphasized in the measured eulogy delivered by Bishop John D. Grellinger. The latter described Bishop Bona's 55 years in the priesthood as an "inestimable blessing not only to him who lived it but to the people it served."

He declared that the basic characteristic of Bishop Bona's career in his high office was his great, inbred reverence for the priesthood. He said the bishop regarded the office as a sacred trust to be fulfilled personally.

Chilton Raises Pay Of City Officials

Municipality Will Assume the Total Retirement Payment Cost

CHILTON — The common council Tuesday passed an ordinance increasing salaries for the chief of police, increased $10 city officials to take effect Jan. 1, 1968.

Official receiving increases are the city clerk, increase of $200 to $6,500; city treasurer and assessor, increase of $200 to $1,800; director of public work, increase of $500 to $8,500; and

Also passed by resolution was the establishment of total Wisconsin Retirement Fund participation for city employees.

The resolution states that on earnings paid to participating employees as of Jan. 1, 1968, the city will pay to the Wisconsin Retirement Fund an amount equal to all of the contributions normally required to be made by the participating employees.

It was also resolved that all such payments of contributions made by the city shall be reported to the Wisconsin Retirement Fund in the same manner as though deducted from the earnings of participating employees.

reactor, a water supply from the spent fuel pit is heated, by the splitting atoms, in the vacuum of the containments to an extreme temperature. This water (fuel), which does not boil because of the pressure, in turn, heats water taken from the lake and changes this into steam to turn the turbines.

Reed indicated that other lake water is used to condense the steam before it is returned to the lake.

14 Feet Thick
—The first containment has 7,300 yards of concrete in it, including a 14-foot thick base and 3-foot thick walls. The company plans to begin construction on the second one next spring.

—By January 1969, the company plans to have a formal training program in operation of the nuclear plant for about 35 of its key personnel. This will be done in the information building located near the plant.

—The construction firm has not had serious trouble getting workers, except carpenters, and a schedule problem is not seen. The annual construction payroll is about $4 million.

—Westinghouse Electric Corp., Atomic Power Division, Pittsburgh, Penn., is the main contractor and is constructing the nuclear reactors, which will be shipped to the site and installed as a unit.

At the end of the tour newsmen and plant officials returned to the temporary offices of Wisconsin Michigan where an informal question and answer period was held.

Officials included Tony Carpfinger, project engineer, Wisconsin Michigan; John Dehlberg, assistant vice president, Wisconsin Electric; J. K. Babbitt, vice president and general manager, Wisconsin Michigan; and Merlin Abler, director of marketing, Wisconsin Michigan.

"to live lovingly and to think and live within the church in love."

Friend and Teacher

Bishop Grellinger added that Bishop Bona gave the same loyalty to the clergy serving under him. He described him as both a friend and teacher to his priests, a man always ready to hear their problems, and the bigger the problem the deeper was his charity.

The funeral mass, jointly celebrated by Archbishop William Cousins of Milwaukee, his Auxiliary Bishop, Roman Atkielski, Auxiliary Bishop Jerome Hastrich, Madison, and Msgrs. Theodore Verbeten, Chester Ropella, Peter Skell and John Landowski, was also a historic event in St. Francis Cathedral.

It marked the first time in the 100-year history of the diocese and the 80-year existence of the cathedral that a funeral rite for a reigning bishop, attended by such high ecclesiastical rank, was offered entirely in English and with complete congregational response throughout.

The weather contributed to the lack of pomp and ceremony. Because of the rain the traditional procession of prelates from the rectory, through the main entrance to the church and down the aisle to the sanctuary was cancelled.

Unobtrusive
Instead, visiting dignitaries entered individually through the sacristy door behind the high altar and took their places unobtrusively.

Just before the entrance of the mass, celebrants and Cardinal Cody, and a honor guard of Knights of Columbus in formal regalia filed down the main aisle and quietly took seats to one side.

It was completely dark when the mass was over. The coffin of Bishop Bona was wheeled out of his cathedral for the last time, transferred to a waiting hearse and the funeral cortege rolled away into the darkness and gently falling rain. He was buried in Allouez Cemetery, near three of his predecessors, Bishops Joseph Melcher, Joseph J. Fox and Paul P. Rhode.

"Congregational Peanuts" have been prepared at Christ Congregational Church, Clintonville, by members of the Women's Christian Fellowship and their friends as their annual fund-raising project. ## Construction on Schedule

$120 Million Nuclear Plant Grows

BY AILEEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

East Central Wisconsin's first nuclear power plant, a $120 million complex near Two Rivers, is on schedule toward its 1971 completion date, area newsmen learned Wednesday on a site tour one year and one week after the groundbreaking ceremony.

Officials of Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., Appleton, and Wisconsin Electric Power Co., Milwaukee, parent plant of the Appleton company, and Glenn A. Reed, plant general superintendent, took about 15 newsmen around the construction site on Lake Michigan in the damp, foggy afternoon. The two companies plan to divide the cost and use of the dual facility.

Investment to date in construction and materials totals $17 million, and 324 persons are employed in the construction. The total cost of the plant does not include initial fuel expenses of about $15 million, plant officials said.

Atom Splitting Process

The nuclear plant uses a combination of uranium 235 and 238 and receives its energy from an atom-splitting process, commonly thought of with the atomic bomb. However, plant officials said, the splitting at the plant by two nuclear reactors is on a less violent but continuous basis. It was 25 years ago this month that the first atom was split in Chicago, bringing a revolutionary new energy source, and about 16 years ago that engineering conservationists, concerned over the burden a growing population would put on the nation's fuel supply, attempted to harness the energy of atom fission for this purpose.

The two companies decided on a nuclear power plant and this one will serve Wisconsin-Michigan customers in the Upper Peninsula and Fox Valley areas and Wisconsin Electric patrons in the Milwaukee and southeastern Wisconsin area. The plant will have a capacity which a hydro-

Plant officials reported that the nuclear plant will cost about 30 per cent more to construct than a coal-fueled one.

The two-hour tour through the muddy construction site and under the outstretched reach of several bright yellow giant cranes showed the invited newsmen the basic framework of the facility on a 1,260-acre location.

Main Interest Areas

Main areas of interest to date were the reactor containment base now completed, reactor auxiliary room under construction, the spent fuel pit construction progress, turbine building where steel work is virtually completed, 14-foot diameter water intake tunnel which will be 80 per cent finished by the end of the month and the excavation for the permanent information center scheduled to open next summer.

Reed told newsmen that the plant basically consists of two generators; two reactor vessels, each within a silo-type concrete and steel containment, and two turbines. Theoretically, each company owns one of each, and the auxiliary equipment, such as the bridge crane, will be used by both.

Board Meets Tuesday

Zoning, Planning Committee Weighed in Calumet County

CHILTON — Creation of a one-third local, two-thirds federal county planning and zoning committee and development of a comprehensive water and sewer plan will come before the Calumet County Board at 10 a.m. Tuesday after action on the two items was postponed at the November board session.

The formation of a planning and zoning committee is to comply with state requirements to have both functions under one committee. Presently, zoning is under the jurisdiction of the parks committee. A planning committee now exists.

Recommendation to separate water and sewer planning from total county planning was recently made, reasoning that federal assistance may be more easily obtained if the project is handled separately.

FHA Funds

Federal funds of up to 90 per cent of cost are available for water and sewer planning under the Farm and Home Administration act (FHA). It is estimated it will cost about $7,000 to complete the survey of water and sewer needs in the county.

The remaining portion of the total plan, including studies on population, parks, zoning schools and economy, would fall under the 701 plan, a part of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The cost-sharing basis under 701 is

Students Propose New Center at Clintonville

City Council Asked to Cooperate in Providing Youth Recreation Facilities

CLINTONVILLE — Need for a youth center was brought before the council Tuesday night by three representatives of the senior high school student council.

Kenneth Eberhardt, student council president, Karen Wanta and Linda Gretzinger told the council that most young people from junior high through senior high need some place to spend their time other than places available at the present time.

They said they felt the parents and community were backing them. They presented petitions signed. The students said they would like a place where there would be no smoking and only soft drinks that would be centrally located so it would be available to all students, and provide ping-pong tables and other games.

Eberhardt said they thought it might be possible to have a fund drive to raise money so there wouldn't be a cost to the city taxpayers. Mayor Frank Sinkewicz said that anything the city cooperated on with the student council would be on a temporary basis because as future plans for the city call for a civic center.

The matter was referred to the council's recreation committee for study with the student council, to bring back a recommendation at the next meeting or a special meeting if so needed.

Await New Building

Youth Center Moved To Waupaca Armory

WAUPACA — The Youth Center will be moved from its present location, above the former Fisher's Dairy Store on N. Main Street, to the armory as soon as the building is vacated by the National Guard Dec. 31. Approval to move the center was given Tuesday night by the city council.

The new center will be built across the street from the armory but until the building is completed, the center will be in the two large heated garage stalls on the armory's south side.

City Hall Move

Plans are to move city hall to the armory but the move will not be made for several months, Mayor Lloyd Matheson said. Instead of the building standing empty it can be used for the center. "The area to be used will be on the ground floor and not a fire trap" Matheson said. "It will not only be a safer place for the youth center but it will also save the city some money," he added. At the present time the city pays $50 per month plus heat and light for the Main Street location.

Restroom facilities of the main armory building will be used on the nights that the center is open.

Matheson informed aldermen that the National Guard is already packing equipment in preparation for disbanding the unit. The city has received a request from the National Guard to use a portion of the garage for storage space for an undetermined time, Matheson said. In the letter received from Maj. Gen. Ralph Olson, which stated that the Guard wanted to exercise its option to rent the armory on a month to month basis and quoted a price for $367 per month which is the amount now being paid. Matheson mentioned the amount stating he did not know if the National Guard would be willing to pay that amount just for storage space in the garage.

Yemen Royalists Halt Soviet Arms Shipment

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Royalist reports from Yemen today said the Royalists had cut off the capital city of San'a to prevent Russian military equipment from arriving for the besieged Republican government. Royalist sources in Beirut in contact with their leaders at home said the road from the Red Sea port of Hodeida to San'a was cut after the Royalist command "learned that Soviet armored forces were going to land at Hodeida."

They said San'a was cut off from all sides and the Royalists were attempting to damage the airport to prevent Russian supplies from arriving by plane. Egyptian troops have been the chief bulwark of the Yemeni Republicans, but the last of these are scheduled to leave Hodeida Friday.

Reports Unconfirmed

No confirmation was available for any of the reports. The Royalists earlier this week claimed they had downed a Russian-made MIG jet piloted by a Russian. The Royalists had previously claimed that Russians were fighting for the Republicans but never presented conclusive proof.

One Western source who returned from San'a recently said a team of Soviet technicians had arrived in the capital to assemble jet planes which were shipped to Yemen in crates. Republican Foreign Minister Hassan Micky recently visited Moscow and informed sources there said he signed an agreement for Russian warplanes to bolster the Republicans.

Grounded Ship Freed At Mouth of Columbia

ASTORIA, Ore (AP) — An oil tanker grounded in the stormy mouth of the Columbia River early today but worked herself free and headed into port.

Before she did, Coast Guard helicopters had plucked 11 crewmen from the wave-swept decks.

The 572-foot David E. Day, carrying 150,000 barrels of gasoline, diesel oil and fuel oil, went aground about 12:30 a.m. 1,000 yards off Cape Disappointment light on the Washington side of the river channel.

She swung broadside to the breakers and 20-foot waves washed over her decks.

Crewmen risked being washed overboard as they went on deck to be taken off by two helicopters from the Astoria Coast Guard air station.

While the rescue moved slowly through the night, the ship got out an anchor and with her engines still working, managed to swing her bow into the seas.

Just after 3:30 a.m., three hours after the grounding, Capt. S. E. Valentine, Nevada City, Calif., radioed that she was free, and cancelled an order for the tug Salvage Chief.

The cutter Magnolia, which had planned to put a line aboard, stood by a quarter mile away. Also at the scene were a 44-foot Coast Guard motor life

Clergymen of 4 Faiths Join for Cardinal's Rites

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine cardinals participated today in a two-hour funeral service for Francis Cardinal Spellman at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey joined ranking civic leaders and leading clergy of four faiths at the funeral rites. The White House said President Johnson this morning had not yet decided whether he would attend.

There are more than 2,200 seats in the cathedral. Officials of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York said almost all were for invited officials with tickets.

The services began with a block-long procession into the church of hundreds of Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and Orthodox leaders.

Civil war has plagued feudalistic Yemen, in the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula, since shortly after a Republican faction of army officers overthrew the monarch, Imam Mohammed al-Badr.

Nasser Troops

Tribes in the interior rallied to the Imam, while Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser sent thousands of troops to Yemen to keep the Republicans from being driven out. But Saudi Arabia gave arms and other material aid to the Royalists, and the Republicans and their Egyptian allies ultimately were confined to a triangle made up of San'a, Taiz and Hodeida, Yemen's three cities.

After Egypt's defeat in the Arab-Israeli war in June, Nasser no longer could keep troops in Yemen. He and Saudi Arabian King Faisal agreed in August to get out of the civil war and let a peace commission of three Arab nations seek peace. Despite a change in their high command, the Republicans rejected any settlement that would put their hold on the government in doubt, and observers abroad have been predicting a resumption of the civil war and a Royalist victory was only a matter of time despite the reported Soviet agreement to give the Republicans material aid.

The Royalist report of Soviet armored forces about to land at Hodeida was generally brushed off in Beirut. It was felt that if the Russians didn't send troops to save Egypt in June, they wouldn't send them to save Yemen.

War Protesters Dispersed

NEW YORK (AP) — Chanting antiwar demonstrators staged a third round of "stop the draft" protests today, spilling through the streets from Manhattan's southern tip to Times Square and the United Nations.

Scrambling police outnumbered them at virtually every turn, and the roving band which numbered about 700 at the start had dwindled to about 30 by the time the demonstrators dispersed some three hours later.

A solid wall of police cars blocked the entrance to the United Nations for the protest's finale, some five miles from its starting point.

More than 200 of them had been arrested, on charges ranging from inciting to riot to disorderly conduct and parading without a permit. Among them was blonde Linda Morse, a co-chairman of the Mobilization Committee to End the War.

Demonstration leaders, admitting frustration and charging police with harassment, called for another round of protests Friday, with Battery Park in

Credit Cards Accepted For Nearly Everything

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP) — The great American tradition of buying on credit goes a step further in Tehama County.

Recognizing that paying taxes can be burdensome for those short of cash, the Board of Supervisors says it will allow property owners to pay their local taxes with a bank credit card.

Lower Manhattan as the staging area.

More than 700 of the young demonstrators left the park in a token force to the downtown armed forces induction center, principal target of the two previous protests.

Employing new tactics plotted Wednesday night after two days of direct assaults on the center had failed, the roving bands ran through rain-wet streets while police pounded after them on horse and on foot. Circling helicopters followed their movement, too.

A busload of police arrived in Times Square, site of a midtown armed forces recruiting center, just in time to turn aside an oncoming group of 150 demonstrators.

Some of the group ran through the streets tossing flowers on parked cars. At the center, a group of 75 picketed carrying a red, white and blue sign saying "Welfare workers get out of Vietnam now."

One counter demonstrator picketed in the park carrying an American flag. He identified himself as John Ilick, 31, of Ramsey, N.J. and said, "I'm here to show the GIs somebody's rooting for them."

There was also a group of longshoremen roving the area, several of whom said they would fight. "Why I fought bums like these overseas for 3 1/2 years," shouted one as mounted policemen kept them away from the protesters. "I can do it successfully waged a petition campaign demanding one."

U.S. Denies Report Of Thailand Strikes

EGLEIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Military sources report U.S. planes are now bombing Communist infiltration routes into Thailand from Laos, but the U.S. embassy in Thailand categorically denies it.

An embassy spokesman also directly denied a report from the military sources that some American planes have been shot down over Thailand, and said the embassy knew nothing of any Communist anti-aircraft guns or missiles in the country.

In contradicting the reports, the spokesman said no U.S. armed forces of any kind are carrying out bombing mission on Thai soil, and added: "No U.S. planes have been lost to hostile fire from within Thailand."

although there has been no official statement on the losses. These disclosures, made Wednesday by officers here, appear to indicate a worsening insurgency situation for the Thais, confronted more and more with Communist penetration of their borders.

The problem has required some American actions similar to early U.S. efforts in South Vietnam, officers said.

He declined to be specific but said the actions involve U.S. air commandos in Thailand.

These same sources say: —The Communists have sought to counter the raids by positioning anti-aircraft guns and surface-to-air missiles in the extreme northeastern corner of Thailand.

—Some American planes have been shot down over Thailand.

to pinpoint the identity of the Viet Cong agent, to detail what he told South Vietnamese police during interrogation sessions or to indicate the precise nature of his mission.

State Department officials also said they wouldn't comment on whether the United States is trying to find out from the Viet Cong what their representative wanted to talk about.

"We can go on trying to nail jelly to this tree all day," McCloskey said after many questions, "but I have no comment on this."

The State Department announcement dovetails with the official U.S. denial last week that embassy officials and Viet Cong representative met or planned to meet.

Usually well informed U.S. authorities said they were deeply skeptical that the arrested Hanoi agent carried any serious peace initiative or any other serious matter to present to the embassy.

A State Department official with long Saigon experience said it makes no sense for the Viet Cong to try to get a message to the United States in Saigon when easier and safer contacts are readily available in neutral and Communist capitals.

Housing Vote Injunction Denied In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's open housing controversy moved a step closer to trial Wednesday after a federal judge declined to grant a temporary injunction blocking a scheduled April referendum on the issue.

Lawyers for the American Civil Liberties Union sought the injunction as part of its suit challenging the constitutionality of the referendum.

U.S. District Judge Robert E. Tehan, who denied the injunction plea, promised an early trial and said he would set the date Jan. 5.

Milwaukee's Common Council is a defendant in the action. The Council scheduled the referendum after open housing foes successfully waged a petition campaign demanding one.

Moses will speak on the extensive building program now underway at the Grand Army Home for Veterans at King. Presently the home has over 550 residents and 300 employees. Future plans call for over 1,500 residents who will require an estimated 700 employees.

Announcement of Moses as the main speaker and the date for the meeting were made Wednesday at a Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting.

Terms Expire

Three directors whose terms expire are expected to be re-named to the board at the annual meeting. Directors whose terms expire are Richard Lienhard, Earl Larson and Melvin Mather.

Until this time the position of secretary-treasurer was a combined post held by G. H. Stordock who had informed directors at a past meeting that because of the heavy work load of both positions he was unable to continue. At Wednesday's meeting, Lualyn Gyldevand was named treasurer by the board members.

Gyldevand will assume his new duties immediately. Several reports were given by committee heads and it was learned that the Waupaca Speed Skating Classic will be Feb. 4, the annual open Men's Bonspiel, sponsored by the Waupaca Curling Club, will be Feb. 1 through 4 and include rinks from Wisconsin, Michigan and Canada. It was also reported that the Waupaca Jaycees are in the process of developing snowmobile trials at Brainard Bridge Park.

Promote Area

Robert Neimuth and Orin Florence were named chairman of a committee to promote Waupaca and the Chain O' Lakes area at the Milwaukee Sports show. Waupaca Day at the show will be March 19 and Chain O' Lakes Day March 21. Stordock has requested that all committee chairmen have their annual reports prepared and submitted to him by Dec. 15 so they can be ready for distribution at the annual meeting.

Brillion Patrons Favor Toll-Free Phone Service

76 Per Cent Indicate They Want Link With Reedsville Exchange

BRILLION — The majority of the 922 telephone subscribers here favor Brillion-Reedsville toll-free service at a slight increase in rates, according to a recent General Telephone Co. survey.

Results indicate that 76 per cent of the 693 customers who returned the survey card want toll-free service to Reedsville, according to Lowell H. Boehm, local company commercial manager, and Brillion Chamber of Commerce officials.

The Chamber of Commerce, with verbal support from city, school and industrial officials and clergymen, campaigned for a favorable vote on the extended service issue.

Subject to Public Service Commission approval, the rate increase will be 20 cents per month for residence and rural business customers, and 50 cents per month for business - one - and - two - party customers.

The new setup will add over 450 telephones to Brillion's toll-free calling area.

General Telephone Co. has set a late 1969 target date for provision of the new service. Engineering requirements, equipment availability and installation time preclude earlier provision of the service, Boehm said.

TB Skin Testing Set for Pupils At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — In cooperation with local physicians, a tuberculin skin testing program will be conducted in the joint school district.

The skin test is being offered to the first and ninth grades. The ninth graders will be tested Wednesday and the first graders will be tested after the Christmas holidays.

This test is a method of determining if a person has been infected with the tubercle bacillus. The test is made by placing tuberculin between the layers of the skin of the forearm. Appearance of the skin 48 to 72 hours after the test tells if the child is a reactor. A positive reaction means that at some time the TB germs entered the body. It does not determine whether the person actually is being harmed by the germ or has successfully resisted it, according to Mrs. Mattie Stoehr, R.N., city-school nurse.

Washkansky Leaves Hospital Room

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Louis Washkansky left his sterilized room today for the first time since the historic transplant operation four days ago replaced his failing heart with a healthy one.

Washkansky, in the second day of a week-long critical period during which his body may attempt to reject the alien heart, was wheeled on a bed more than a quarter of a mile through Groote Schuur Hospital to the radiotherapy department for a cobalt treatment intended to prevent rejection.

He was returned to his room

40 minutes later. He received cobalt treatments in his room Tuesday and Wednesday from a hastily built portable radiation device.

Until today, the 55-year-old wholesale grocer had been kept isolated in an oxygen tent because the radiation and drugs designed to overcome the body's tendency to reject foreign substances also leave him more susceptible to infection.

Doctors said there has been no sign so far of "immunological rejection" of the heart transplanted Sunday from a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto crash, but they kept a minute by minute watch on the patient.

Dr. Christian Barnard, who headed the team that operated told newsmen Wednesday he believes Washkansky's body will continue to accept the new heart.

Washkansky's own heart had been expected to quit this week. But Dr. Barnard said the patient may go home in three weeks if he keeps up his steady improvement. He said Washkansky would be better off at home because "hospitals are where germs are found, and the chance of infection would consequently be greater."

Washkansky's appetite was "not so good" today, a hospital spokesman said. He breakfasted on two boiled eggs after eating minced chicken and mashed potato Wednesday.

In New York, a 22-member surgical team carried out the world's second reported human heart transplant Wednesday but the heart inserted into the breast of a 2½-week-old boy stopped after 6½ hours. Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the chief surgeon, said he did not know why the heart—from a child with a fatal brain lesion—failed.

Dr. Barnard was asked about Washkansky's future, if he passes the critical period.

"It will be the life of a man who has diabetes, of a man who is 55 and of a man who has a heart transplant—who knows?" the surgeon said.

Prof. V. Shire, head of Groote Schuur Hospital's cardiac clinic, said no matter how long Washkansky lives, he must be checked every month. Shire said the stitches from Washkansky's incision will be removed in 14 days.

In Chicago, editors of the Journal of the American Medical Association reported Barnard told them by telephone the transplanted heart, while of normal size, was only half as large as Washkansky's own heart, enlarged as the result of disease.

"As a result there is a slight side-to-side motion of the donor heart within the enlarged, triangular cavity of the patient," Barnard said.

In Cape Town, however, Dr. Barnard denied saying his patient's new heart was "wobbling."

Vague McCarthy Not Opposing Only War

BY JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this point it looks like a kind of romantic adventure.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota hasn't declared himself a candidate for the presidency. Publicly he hasn't said he's out to dump President Johnson. But he is going to run in several presidential primaries.

It's hard to believe that McCarthy, a Johnson critic on Vietnam and other things, thinks he has a chance, if he does, for the presidential nomination at the Democratic convention next August.

He is not a national figure. He has been in Congress 18 years, 8 of them in the Senate, and his career there has not been particularly distinguished. Newsweek magazine said most of the senators consider him somewhat lazy.

4-1 Underdog

And this week the Louis Harris poll among Democrats pictured him as a 4-1 underdog in any nationwide primary election contest with Johnson. What then is his purpose in getting involved in the presidential picture?

In announcing Nov. 30 he would enter the primaries, he indicated he would be satisfied if his campaign, built around applied to college teachers it's beginning to seem that anyone who can read a book is intellectual.

He's a witty man, gray-

If that doesn't happen, he said. "I think this challenge would have to go all the way to a challenge for the nomination for the presidency. It may not be me at that point. It might be someone else."

It has been suggested—but this is highly questionable—that McCarthy is acting as a stalking horse for another Democrat, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, in the sense that McCarthy will take the public pulse and Kennedy can move in against Johnson if it seems good.

Not By Name

In his announcement McCarthy never mentioned Johnson by name but he blasted him this week at breakfast with reporters, saying Johnson was not as "good as president as he could have been" and accusing Johnson of "using and eroding" government institutions and people.

Now that McCarthy has started down that road, he'll probably keep on. Discontent over Vietnam will be the basis of his campaign but he has said he will expand it to include other issues.

McCarthy, who taught at St. Thomas College in Minnesota, has been called an intellectual, a word which is losing its meaning. In recent years it has been applied so loosely to college teachers it's beginning to seem that anyone who can read a book is intellectual.

He's a witty man, gray-

The Post-Crescent A 14
Thursday, December 7, 1967 haired, 51, and is emerging on the national scene when the discontent over the war is widespread but scattered, taking many forms under many different leaderships.

Rallying Symbol

McCarthy may hope to make himself a rallying symbol for the discontented, a single focus point, and through this become a force that will compel Johnson to soften up on Vietnam or be ruined politically if he doesn't.

There was a time, back in 1964, when McCarthy apparently saw eye to eye with Johnson although that was before the war got overheated. It was at that time that McCarthy was one of the 88 senators who approved beforehand any action Johnson might take to repel Communist aggression in Southeast Asia. Many of those senators, including McCarthy, are now unhappy with what they did.

That was the Gulf of Tonkin resolution they voted on. McCarthy says now so many interpretations have been placed on the resolution it has taken on a meaning and significance not attributed to it when it was before the Senate.

He must not have been listening. It was clearly explained on the Senate floor that the resolution gave Johnson enough power to take the country into war, if he thought necessary.

Without Stations

McCarthy has been banging away at Johnson's Vietnam policy since early 1966 but most of the time his criticisms have not been escorted by solutions. In his Nov. 30 announcement he was not at all positive about what should be done.

The reporters who later breakfasted with him asked him to spell out what he would do in Vietnam. He said he was for "beginning some kind of pull-back" in the hope of getting negotiations going.

In the report on the breakfast there was nothing to indicate what he would do if the North Vietnamese refused to negotiate after a U.S. pullback.

But he was reported as wanting an "honorable settlement" and defined it as a kind of South Vietnamese "coalition government" which would include "Communist influence" and might not be "particularly friendly to the United States."

He says the war is "morally wrong," a phrase which gives an insight into much of McCarthy's thinking since he dwells a lot on moralisms, like Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney.

Branch Banks On Limited Scale Likely

Legislature Within Slight Margin of Enacting Measure

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Branch banking apparently is coming to Wisconsin, but in a more limited way than some bankers wanted and others feared.

The Legislature has moved within a slight margin of final enactment a measure intended to permit branches under strict geographical rules in some "bankless communities of rural counties. This is especially true of those in central and northwestern Wisconsin which have sent delegations to the capitol repeatedly in the last 10 years to complain about the lack of banking services.

Now approved in both houses is a measure originating in northwestern Wisconsin that would authorize a banking company to establish a branch in another municipality of no other bank operates within three miles of the proposed new bank.

25-Mile Limit

Such branches could be established only in the county of the parent bank, or in a contiguous county if the location is not more than 25 miles distant from the parent institution.

Bank branching has been one of the hottest issues in the Legislature during many recent years and has divided the Wisconsin financial community to a greater degree than any other legislative question confronting it.

Some banking interests have tried to promote less restrictive rules on branching, but have failed because of the conservative provision in the state constitution that requires a two-thirds vote of the members of each legislative house to make any changes in the banking laws.

The "bankless" community bill is likely to settle the issue, at last for this legislative term, according to spokesmen for the industry.

Branching was outlawed in the state in 1947, although the branches in operation at that time were permitted to continue.

The Assembly concurred in minor Senate amendments to the bill, and returned it to the Senate. Thus it will go to Gov. Warren P. Knowles for his approval or veto.

$120 Million Nuclear Plant Grows

BY AILEEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

East-Central Wisconsin's first nuclear power plant, a $120 million complex near Two Rivers, is on schedule toward its 1971 completion date, area newsmen learned Wednesday on a site tour one year and one week after the groundbreaking ceremony.

Officials of Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., Appleton, and Wisconsin Electric Power Co., Milwaukee, parent plant of the Appleton company, and Glenn A. Reed, plant general superintendent, took about 15 newsmen around the construction site on Lake Michigan in the damp, foggy afternoon. The two companies plan to divide the cost and use of the dual facility.

Investment to date in construction and materials totals $17 million, and 324 persons are employed in the construction. The total cost of the plant does not include initial fuel expenses of about $15 million, plant officials said.

Atom Splitting Process

The nuclear plant uses a combination of uranium 235 and 238 and receives its energy from an atom-splitting process, commonly thought of with the atomic bomb. However, plant officials said, the splitting at the plant by two nuclear reactors is on a less violent but continuous basis. It was 25 years ago this month that the first atom was split in Chicago, bringing a revolutionary new energy source, and about 16 years ago that engineering conservationists, concerned over the burden a growing population would put on the nation's fuel supply, attempted to harness the energy of atom fission for this purpose.

The two companies decided on a nuclear power plant and this one will serve Wisconsin-Michigan customers in the Upper Peninsula and Fox Valley areas and Wisconsin Electric patrons in the Milwaukee and southeastern Wisconsin area. The plant will have a capacity which a hydroelectric or coal-fueled facility could never match.

Plant officials reported that the nuclear plant will cost about 30 per cent more to construct than a coal-fueled one.

The two hour tour through the muddy construction site and under the outstretched reach of several bright yellow giant cranes showed the invited newsmen the basic framework of the facility on a 1,260-acre location.

Main Interest Areas

Main areas of interest to date were the reactor containment base now completed, reactor auxiliary room under construction, the spent fuel pit construction progress, turbine building where steel work is virtually completed, 14-foot diameter water intake tunnel which will be 80 per cent finished by the end of the month and the excavation for the permanent information center scheduled to open next summer.

Reed told newsmen that the plant basically consists of two generators; two reactor vessels, each within a silo-type cement and steel containment, and two turbines. Theoretically, each company owns one of each, and the auxiliary equipment, such as the bridge crane, will be used by both.

Salary Hikes Voted by City For 100 Non-Union Employees

Executive Session Agrees on Raises for Department Heads

An estimated 100 non-union salaried personnel employed by the City of Appleton will receive a 5 per cent pay increase in 1968 as result of action taken by the city council Wednesday night.

It will cost the city an additional $25,000 to $30,000 for salaries next year. Previously, union employees got raises when contracts were signed for the coming year.

While official action is expected at the next meeting, the council held an executive session after clearing its agenda last night and arrived on informal agreement for boosting the salaries of four elected officials.

Previously, the finance committee recommended increases. They were agreed upon at the closed door meeting which is

Women Okay As Bartenders

Council Passes Measure By One Vote After Long And Heated Discussion

Appleton was thrown wide open to women bartenders Wednesday night.

The city council — after months of bickering — voted out the longstanding policy banning female mixologists.

In doing so the council went against the recommendation of the majority of the welfare-ordinance committee.

However, there was instant feedback from the council's action, which was hailed by a spokesman for the Outagamie County Tavernkeepers Association.

Some aldermen who voted against changing the policy predicted there would be reconsideration at the next council meeting.

B-Girl Ordinance

And Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), under the heading of new business, brought in a resolution calling for a B-girl ordinance in Appleton, which would prohibit women bartenders and entertainers from soliciting drinks from customers.

In recent years several votes had been taken to rid the city of the female bartender ban, but all were unsuccessful.

However, Wednesday night Ald. Richard Huisman (1st), committee chairman and long-time champion of eliminating the policy against barmaids, won the battle on the council floor.

Huisman predicted some weeks ago that he had enough votes to rewrite the ordinance.

No Problem

Several other cities in the state allow women to tend bar and, according to Al Breitrick, president of the Tavernkeepers Association, there has been no problem.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff was not asked by the council what his position was on the issue. Wolff said he would be meeting with other police chiefs in the Fox Valley next week and will inquire what problems, if any, they have had as result of women tending bar.

Those favoring the ban contended the city would be opening the door to future enforcement problems by having only women on the premises of a tavern. Under existing policy women can tend bar in some instances when a licensed male is on the premises.

It was later disclosed that several cities allowing women bartenders also have B-girl ordinances which are strictly enforced. Their main purpose is to ward off organized prostitution.

Go-Go Girls Serve

During debate, some aldermen told of hearing reports that go-go girls in some Appleton establishments are serving drinks and sitting with customers in addition to serving as entertainers.

The move to revise the ordinance skimmed through by one vote. Eleven were required for passage, and the final roll call was 12-7.

Council Revives Issue of Street Right-of-Way

Setback Provision Is Referred Back To Plan Commission

The issue of a 10 foot right-of-way setback provision to cover Franklin and Lawrence streets in the future was revived by the Appleton City Council Wednesday night.

Ald. Mark Catlin (7th) said he felt the council did not have all the facts or realize the full implication when it approved the setback at its last meeting.

"There are no exemptions so it would mean the existing buildings would be illegal," Catlin said, adding that four churches were involved.

He was informed they would revert to non-conforming uses and when, changing locations, the right-of-way provisions would then go into effect.

Referred Back

Catlin felt this should be in writing and requested the council to reconsider its previous approval. The council did — and the entire matter was then referred back to the plan commission for further discussion.

Catlin's action was related to Franklin Street, but Ald. Al Stoegebauer (4th) also included Lawrence Street.

Stoegebauer's move provoked comment from Ald. R. P. Groh (8th) who said he couldn't

Fog, Rain Continues to Darken Days

Fog and rain made it a gray day in the Fox Valley with snow filtering into the same picture today.

For the second day, the weather caused cancellations of Air Wisconsin scheduled flights and there have been no flights at Outagamie Airport since yesterday.

A shallow layer of hail covered the ground in the Lake Geneva area this morning, there were thundershowers in the Milwaukee area, thick fog cloaked communities in the Lake Michigan area, and Rhinelander and other northern cities reported light snow.

Drizzle Dampens

The drizzle that dampened most of the state during the night was expected to change to light snow later today as temperatures began dropping.

Rain accumulations for a 24-hour period ending at dawn included .58 of an inch at Madison, .29 at Beloit, .20 at Lone Rock, .18 at Green Bay, .09 at Racine and lesser amounts in other spots.

Temperatures were relatively

For Council Action Formal Request Seeks Referendum for Bonds In Excess of $300,000

A formal request has been made that the Appleton City Council schedule a referendum when considering bond issues of more than $300,000.

It is the second such request made by Thomas B. Heiss, 212 E. Harding St., a citizen who says he is alarmed over the city's fiscal policies and bonded indebtedness.

In a letter to the council Wednesday night, Heiss said his previous request had been referred to a committee where it remained pigeon-holed.

Heiss enclosed a copy of a Madison ordinance which calls for an automatic referendum

On issues calling for expenditures of less than $300,000 there is a provision that voters can petition the council for a referendum vote.

Heiss said it appeared the 22 members of the Madison City Council did not feel placing bond issues on a referendum belittled the office of alderman.

Heiss listed the occupations of Madison aldermen to point out they were from a cross-section of the community and included several professional and businessmen.

He also cited that Milwaukee

Appleton Listed for TV Station

Legislators Also Pick 3 Other Sites For State Outlets

Appleton was listed by a State Assembly Committee at Madison late this morning as a site for one of four educational television stations being proposed in Wisconsin.

The Assembly State Affairs Committee, by a 9-2 vote, recommended measures which would provide for establishing the educational TV network, calling for stations at Appleton, Wausau, Eau Claire and Platteville.

In the past, Green Bay has been mentioned as a site in all preliminary reports emanating from the Legislature. However, recently the Appleton city council passed a resolution asking that this city be given consideration as a TV station site.

The Assembly committee said construction of the stations could be accomplished with federal aids and through bonding.

VTE-12 Plans Meeting Monday

The Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education (VTE-12) has scheduled a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Appleton school.

Though regular meetings are on the third Monday of each month, the date was changed this month due to the holidays.

Administrative policies and the procedure of promoting the total evening school program which will be available at the various locations in the district, will be discussed.

A report on the progress and plans to date in providing classes in the various schools will be presented by William Sirek, area director.

The congregation of priests, many of whom were ordained by Bishop Stanislaus Bona before the altar where his body now lay, came to pay their final respects to the man who had led them for more than 22 years. St. Francis Xavier Cathedral was filled to the doors for the requiem mass, which was attended by many of the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church of America. (Post-Crescent News Service Photo)

Final Rites for a Kind Man Simple Farewell for Bona

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Roman Catholic Diocese of Green Bay paid its last respects Wednesday afternoon to Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, its spiritual and administrative leader for nearly 23 years.

Except for the attendance of an imposing portier of the Catholic Hierarchy of the United States, it was a simple farewell to a simple, sincere and kindly man.

An archbishop, two bishops and four monsignors celebrated the afternoon funeral mass in St. Francis Xavier Cathedral in the presence of a cardinal, another archbishop and nearly a score of bishops, but in essence the service differed little from a low mass celebrated any Sunday in any parish church of the diocese.

Other than the plain, closed coffin flanked by tall candles at the foot of the sanctuary steps and a photograph of Bishop Bona with a few floral pieces in the cathedral vestibule there was little evidence that this was an occasion of requiem. Or perhaps it was a highly appropriate "requiem" in the Latin meaning of the word as a moment of "rest" rather than of grief.

Simple Dignity

In contrast to early gathering darkness and drizzling rain outside, the interior of the church was brilliant with light, emphasizing the vivid red robe of John Cardinal Cody, Archbishop of Chicago, and the reds, whites and blacks worn by the other clergy. There were no banks of floral tributes, black draperies or funeral vestments.

The simple dignity of service and the quiet personality of Bishop Bona were emphasized in the measured eulogy delivered by Bishop John D. Grellinger. The latter described Bishop Bona's 55 years in the priesthood as an "inestimable blessing not only to him who lived it but to the people it served."

He declared that the basic characteristic of Bishop Bona's career in his high office was his great, inbred reverence for the priesthood. He said the bishop regarded the office as a sacred trust to be fulfilled personally, "to live lovingly and to think and live within the church in love."

Friend and Teacher

Bishop Grellinger added that Bishop Bona gave the same loyalty to the clergy serving under him. He described him as such a friend and teacher to his priests a man always ready to hear their problems, and the bigger the problem the deeper was his charity.

The funeral mass, jointly celebrated by Archbishop William Cousins of Milwaukee, his Auxiliary Bishop, Roman Alkielski, Auxiliary Bishop Jerome Hastrich, Madison, and Msgrs. Theodore Verhelten, Chester Roppella, Peter Skell and John Landowski, was also a historic event in St. Francis Cathedral.

It marked the first time in the 100-year history of the diocese and the 80-year existence of the cathedral that a funeral rite for a reigning bishop, attended by

Menasha City Employee Pay Scale Hiked

$2,400 Increase
For Mayor, Other Boosts Revealed

MENASHA — Salaries and wages for city officials and employees during 1968 were revealed publicly for the first time today, including a $2,400 increase in the annual salary for the mayor, beginning after next spring's elections.

The common council adopted the salary ordinance Wednesday night by unanimous vote.

All pay and benefit discussions this year were conducted behind closed doors, including common council debate over elected officials' income.

Besides the increase to $11,500 of the mayor's salary, raises were approved for the treasurer, up $600 to $9,100; assessor, up $300 to $8,000, and the city attorney, up $750 to $8,750. The treasurer and assessor are chosen, like the mayor, by general election, while the council elects the city attorney.

Aldermen Unchanged
Under state law, elected officials may not receive pay increases during the same term of office during which they are adopted. Aldermen kept their yearly pay unchanged at $960.

Non-elective department heads include the clerk-comptroller up $800 to $11,000, reversing the situation of recent years under which the mayor received lower pay than the clerk; public works director, up $700 to $11,000; assistant works director and city engineer, up $344 to $10,184 at the start of the year, later going to $10,528; health officer, up $540 to $8,400; park superintendent, up $540 to $8,700; recreation director, up $500 to $8,300; street superintendent, up $540 to $8,700; police chief, up $580 to $10,000; fire chief, up $380 to $9,600; librarian, up $600 to $9,984.

A new position of assistant street superintendent is created, at a rate of $7,800.

Over-all increases of roughly 7½ per cent over last year's were provided for most other employees including those represented by Menasha Professional Policemen's Association, No. 34; Menasha Fire Fighters Association, No. 695, AFL-CIO, and Menasha City Employees Union Local 1035, AFL-CIO.

Pay for policemen ranges from a salary for the first year totaling $6,273 to a top rate of captains of $7,977. Previous levels began at $5,992 and peaked at $7,554.

Firemen may earn from $6,368 to $8,104, from first-year fireman to experienced captain. Previously, salaries ranged from $5,994 to $7,560.

Hourly rates in the street and park departments have been raised 5 cents an hour in nearly every case.

Basler Issued Hangar Permit

OSHKOSH — Carl Mailahn, county zoning officer, has issued a building permit to Basler Flight Service, Inc., for the construction of an $85,000 aircraft hangar on the Winnebago County Airport grounds.

The hangar will be an all-metal structure and will measure 120 by 121 feet.

Warren Basler, president, said Thursday that the new hangar will be the largest of four operated by the company. The present three hangars are leased from the county.

Graveside Rites for Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona were conducted Wednesday in the Allouez Cemetery Chapel by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Chester A. Ropella, center, who served as chancellor for the bishop for more than two decades. Assisting are the Most Rev. John Grellinger, right, administrator of the diocese; and the Very Rev. Msgr. Aloysius Trzebiatowski, Antigo. Bishop Bona's body was buried next to Bishop Paul Rhode's.

Plight of Lake Lot Owners Heard

OSHKOSH — Will the owner of a small lake lot in Winnebago County be able to rebuild his home or cottage if it burns down?

Can he build an addition on his cottage?

Will the man with a medium income be able to afford a lake lot?

These became more than idle questions last week, as officials and the public began to inspect the county's new shoreland zoning ordinance.

There are thousands of small lake lots in the county and several people expressed fear for their interests at a public meeting Tuesday.

It also became somewhat evident that, though county officials might want to listen to the plight of property owners with a sympathetic ear, the state might not be so sympathetic. And the state has the right to approve or disapprove the county's ordinance and any variations from it after it is passed.

And some predicted that the new law, whether it was intended to or not, would force more small lot owners to join sewage districts and help pay for sewage systems.

"For these areas to become part of public sanitary districts would eliminate most of the problem areas in the ordinance," Mailahn predicted. Mailahn added that besides being beneficial in terms of preventing pollution of waterways, the districts would be helpful to many homeowners now getting ineffective service from private systems.

Objectors claim the lot size requirements for private sewage system areas was an indirect and undesirable way of initiating sanitary districts around lakes and rivers. They claim the effort should have been more direct.

Others claim that by restrictions on lot size, the market price for undersized lots will decrease and the land will be indirectly made available for state park development.

"There isn't enough population in some areas to support a public sanitary district," according to Gary Yakes, a local attorney who appeared at meetings last week to object to provisions of the ordinance.

"Why should people who have nice homes on undersize lots in areas not served by a sanitary district be burdened with going to the board of adjustments every time they want to make additions to their homes?" he asked.

According to the present ordinance, a minimum lot area of 20,000 feet and a lot width of 100 feet is required for new single-family dwellings. Substandard lots not served by a municipal sewerage system and measuring at least 65 feet in width and 10,000 square feet can qualify for a zoning permit if the lot is registered in the county Register of Deeds office prior to adoption of the ordinance and provided it is not a hazard to public health, a pollution source, or damaging to wildlife areas.

Kampo Lone Dissenter

Neenah Council Passes Final $30.11 Tax Rate

NEENAH — With only one dissenting vote — as expected — the final version of the 1968 budget sailed through the fiscal control body Wednesday evening, bringing about a tax levy of $30.11 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Roland Kampo, Town of Neenah chairman, registered the lone "no" vote and promised to continue his opposition to rising school costs "until someone comes up with some answers."

Kampo pointed to huge increases in the salary portion of the school budget and predicted the councilmen would face an automatic boost of $600,000 for teachers' salaries at next year's budget sessions. The $30.11 levy is $4.33 over last year's tax rate, a boost of more than 16 per cent.

When the tax bills are mailed out later this month, the property owner with a home assessed at $20,000 will have to pay $602, some $87 more than this year.

The tax boost is the largest in the past six years.

In December of 1962, taxpayers faced a net rate of $20.53 for the coming year's operations. That same $20,000 home cost the property owner $413 in taxes.

From the $20.53 rate following reassessment in 1962, the levy grew to $21.87 for 1964; $22.72 for 1965; $23.02 for 1966; $25.76 for 1967 and the present rate of $30.11 for 1968.

The gross tax rate of $31.80 has been cut by a state credit of $1.69, down four cents from last year's figures.

Former Inmate Jailed For Leaving Obscene Notes Behind in Cell

A 25-year-old Appleton man who has spent most of the past few months behind bars, was sentenced to 30 days in jail this morning for leaving obscene notes in his jail cell last September.

Larry A. Steidl, 831 E. John St., had earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of making lewd or obscene writings in a public place. A summary examination was ordered by the court Oct. 11, and Steidl was committed to Central State Hospital, Waupun, for 60 days. He was brought back to jail Wednesday.

Outagamie County authorities brought the charge after a jail inmate found obscene notes in a cell and writing on a shower wall. The prison turned the notes over to police.

Steidl was in jail for three months on a non-support sentence and is now awaiting trial on four counts of possessing a lewd, obscene, or indecent written matter.

2 Appleton Men Fined $100 for Furnishing Beer to Teen-Age Boys

Shane P. Mullen, 18, and Donald V. Burton, 23, both of 208 W. Prospect Ave., were fined $100 and costs or 48 days in jail this morning after being found guilty of furnishing beer to two boys, ages 15 and 16, on Nov. 4.

They had pleaded innocent, and trial was set for today. However they changed their pleas to no contest and were found guilty by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Appleton police said the pair bought and furnished beer for the two young boys. Some of the beer was consumed at the Prospect Avenue apartment, police contended.

The 16-year-old boy, after leaving the beer party, crashed on four counts of possessing a car into trees in the Town of Menasha while being pursued by police.

K-C Projects Increase in Paper Use

NEENAH — Americans are expected to use 54 million tons of paper, paperboard and paper products in 1968, or 541 pounds for every person, according to a projection by Kimberly-Clark Corporation.

Consumption for the current year is estimated at 51.3 million tons.

Twenty years ago, U.S. consumption was 28 million tons of paper and paper products, less than half the projected total for 1968. In 1958, the figure had risen to 35 million tons.

Printing papers, newsprint and containerboard make up the greatest portion of the current tonnage, and together account for more than half of total consumption estimates for 1968.

In 1967, the fastest gains came in sanitary tissue products and business papers, Kimberly-Clark reported. Next year, use of tissue products (including bonds and writing papers, office copying paper and business forms) is forecast at 2.8 million tons in 1968, a four per cent increase over this year.

Paper and paperboard used in packaging are expected to show gains in 1968, following a dropoff in 1967 due to sluggish economic conditions and inventory buildups during the year.

Demise of Political Borders Predicted

MENASHA — Looking ahead to 1987, City Attorney Richard Steffens sees property taxes "reaching the point of confiscation" and a growing shift toward metropolitan government.

In a speech to the Menasha Rotary Club Wednesday, staccato-speaking former assemblyman said, "Political boundaries today are almost obsolete."

"Political responsibility for government performance is divided to the point of political obscurity."

"Public control of government tends to break down when citizens have to deal with a network of independent governments, each responsible for highly specialized activities," he said.

"Each government is so circumscribed in its powers and in the area of its jurisdiction that it is virtually impossible for local governments to undertake. If a few governments are prepared to agree on joint measures or coordinated programs, their efforts can be blocked by others that are unwilling to cooperate."

While not objecting to the trend toward metropolitan solutions, Steffens said repeatedly the people have right to know in which direction they are heading.

"If I have one complaint about the Fox Valley Council of Governments, (COG), it is that they are not telling the people where they are going."

He cited the example of the regional sewer and water services survey now being proposed for $225,000, of which the COG member municipalities would pay $75,000. Unless there is such a regional plan, Steffens maintained, there will be no more federal grants for sewer and water projects in this area.

Not a Dime

This trend will continue into other areas, he continued, and "not a dime" will be forthcoming unless there is a regional plan.

"You know that's coming."

One factor forcing the local governments to turn to the state, federal governments for help — thus increasing the trend to regional solutions — is the growing burden on the local property tax, he said.

In 1947 the property tax rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation was $28, he said. The tax rate for next year's operation will be about $54.

Court Frees Conscientious Objector

A charge of failure to report for civilian work, after having registered as a conscientious objector, against Alan J. Wilber, 21, 2703 Heather Ave., Town of Grand Chute, has been dismissed by Judge Kenneth P. Grubb in Milwaukee Federal Court.

He had been ordered to report for civilian work last April 14 after he had been registered for two years as a conscientious objector, contending he is a minister of Jehovah's Witnesses and was entitled to a 4-D classification.

He was arrested in July and indicted by a grand jury. He was arraigned in Federal Court in October and pleaded innocent.

He is registered with the Winnebago County Draft Board to which he will return to apply for a minister's classification.

Burglars Cut Selves Out of Safe Robbery

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque police said two burglars apparently haven't been to vocational classes.
